2 GROUPS MEET HERE TO PLAN NRA PROGRAM

Poultry and Egg Dealers of Central Ohio Form Organization.

DIRECTORS ARE NAMED

Marion Painters and Decorators Act To Join State and National Bodies.

A group of Marion painters and decorators and poultry and egg dealers from Central Ohio, in separate meetings here last night voted to organize in order to better carry out their respective programs under the national recovery act.

Organization was completed by the poultry and egg dealers, although the new association will not be named until the next meeting in two weeks. The painters and decorators decided to wait until a future meeting to complete their organization.

Poultry Dealers of District Here

C. W. Sowers of Lexington was elected president of poultry and egg dealers of central Ohio at a meeting last night in Hotel Harding. Fifty dealers, 85 per cent of whom have signed NRA agreements, and who now are seeking to arrive at a blanket schedule of prices to be paid to farmers and other producers for poultry and eggs, attended.

George L. Underwood of Marion was elected secretary and treasurer of the group of dealers. A name for the new organization probably will be selected at the next meeting to be held here in two weeks.

After hearing a talk by L. M. Sumwald of Cleveland, chairman of the code committee of the Northern Ohio Food terminal at Cleveland, dealers expressed the opinion that prices paid in this district might be maintained at a fixed margin below Cleveland quotations. No action was taken on price fixing at last night's meeting, however.

To carry forward the program tentatively outlined last night, the group named a board of directors, consisting of one dealer from each county represented. Members of the board named last night are: Marion county, D. B. Jones of La-Rue; Knox county, Harold Levering of Fredricktown, Madison county, Walter Mooney of Plain City; Richland county, C. W. Cowen of Mansfield; Logan county, William Ansley; Morrow county, H. C. Geyer of Mt. Gilead, Harding county, Ralph Brown of Marseilles, Union county, L. H. Myers of Marysville; Delaware county, Franklin Greenfield of Ashley, Champaign county, Mr. Kroger of St. Paris; Crawford county, Edward Ekleberry of Bucyrus, Wyandot county, H. Warner of Upper Sandusky.

Action Taken by Marion Decorators

A decision to affiliate with the International Society of Master Painters and Decorators and also the Ohio council of the group in order to better come under an NRA code soon to be approved was made last night by a group of 45 Marion painters and decorators in a meeting in the Marion Chamber of Commerce offices.

Speakers at the meeting were R. H. Bohl of Columbus, president of the Ohio council, and F. A. Silbernagle of Columbus, the council's secretary-treasurer. They explained in detail the NRA code as it affects the craft.

With adoption of the code, all employers in the craft, including those in Marion, will come under its provisions.

Ed Robinson of Marion served as temporary chairman last night.

A meeting will be called in the near future to perfect organization of the local unit of the craft's association.

U. S. JUDGE DIES

By The Associated Press

SEBASCO, Me., Sept. 9—Judge William S. Kenyon, 64, of the U. S. circuit court of appeals in the Eighth district, died at his summer home here today. He was stricken with a heart attack five weeks ago. Judge Kenyon resigned from the U. S. senate in 1922 to accept appointment to the bench by the late resident Harding.

STRIPPING OF LINE HURRIED

C., D. & M. Speeds Work To Clear Way for Highway Widening.

ABOUT HALF COMPLETED

Work Progressing Rapidly on Route Between Marion and Bucyrus.

Stripping of the C., D. & M. Electric Co. interurban right-of-way between Marion and Bucyrus is progressing rapidly to make way for the proposed widening of a section of state routes 4 and 23 just north of the corporation line.

M. J. O'Connell who with M. L. Sindeband is in charge of the C., D. & M. in receivership, estimated this morning that approximately half of the equipment between Marion and Bucyrus had been torn away and brought into Marion for storage.

Work is being pushed to clear this section of the abandoned interurban line because the proposed widening of the state routes from the north corporation limits to the division of the routes will necessitate paving part of the old right-of-way. Mr. O'Connell said. If widening of the highway was started before the Marion-Bucyrus section of right-of-way was cleared, the C., D. & M. could not use its interurban cars to haul the salvaged materials here for storage, Mr. O'Connell explained.

When this division has been cleared, he said, work will be suspended until the federal court at Toledo under which the C., D. & M. is operating in receivership, has taken action on bids for the equipment submitted by salvaging companies. These bids were received recently and will be submitted to the court soon, Mr. O'Connell said.

Salvaged material taken from the Bucyrus division will be held in storage here to await action on the bids, he said.

One of the abandoned C., D. & M. electric cars, known as "old 45" passed through Delaware for the last time this week. Stripped of lights, wheels and trolley and mounted on moving apparatus the car was on its way to Byhalia where it will become a "beer garden."

HORSES SAVE MAN

By The Associated Press

TIFFIN, O., Sept. 9—The approach of several curious horses probably saved the life of Clarence Gramm, 20, when a bull attacked him. The man had been gored, trampled and tossed into the air, when the horses frightened the bull away. Gramm's condition is serious.

STAGE SET FOR OPENING OF COUNTY FAIR TUESDAY

Public and Parochial Schools Open Monday

Teachers Assigned, Everything in Readiness for Return of More Than 6,000 Students.

With the announcement today of teacher assignments in the Marion public school system for the coming year, everything is in readiness for the opening of schools Monday morning.

St. Mary Parochial school will open elementary grades Monday morning and on Tuesday morning the high school students will begin the year's work.

One hundred and eighty-eight teachers will greet the more than 6,000 pupils who will enroll Monday in the public schools. Two teachers were added in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades where enrollments have showed an increase of 3% per cent in the last several years and there will be five fewer teachers in the elementary grades where the enrollments are showing a gradual decrease.

New Teachers

New teachers, either to fill vacancies left by retirement of teachers last spring or to fill new positions are Gerald Cheadle, biology teacher and athletic coach, Harding High school, Miss Margaret Topliff, third grade, Forest Lawn school, Miss Hildegarde Wanner third grade, Mark Street school, Miss Lucille Ely household arts, Central Junior High school, Miss Josephine Haly, typing, shorthand and citizenship, and Miss Margaret Watrous mathematics, Thomas A. Edison Junior High school.

In discussing the opening of school Monday morning, Supt. George A. Bowman again pointed out the rules for those students who would have enrolled at the State street building which was closed this spring. With Main street as the division line, those living east will go to Mark Street and those living west, to Oak Street building. An exception to this ruling has been made for those pupils who live on or north of Patten street and on or west of Park street. These students may go to the Oak street building if they desire.

All pupils will be dismissed until noon Monday and on Tuesday regular classes will begin in all of the schools. Grade pupils will report Monday at 8:15 a. m. and the junior and senior high school students at 8 a. m.

Rugged Area Combed for Balloonists

U. S. S. Macon To Be Pressed Into Widespread Search.

By The Associated Press

The rugged fastness of Canada was scoured today by planes and foot searchers in the hope of finding some trace of two balloonists and their aids missing since the start of the Gordon Bennett international race, from Chicago, a week ago.

Quebec province in the vicinity of Lake Bonlac and Lake Wilbridge where a balloon believed to have been that of the Polish airmen Captain Francisek Hynek and his Aid Lieut. Znigniew Burzynski were reported to have been sighted by two Quebec business men while on a holiday.

Fear for Safety

Fear was left for the safety of Ward T. Van Orman of Akron, O., and his companion, Frank A. Trotter, in the American balloon. Their bag also was reported sighted near St. Ste. Marie but fears were expressed that they might have descended in Lake Superior.

Meanwhile at Lakehurst N. J., preparations were made for the U. S. S. Macon, largest airship in the world to take part in the search.

Orders were issued by the navy department at Washington to take part in the search but the big ship was forced to remain in her dock owing to bad weather.

Giant Ship Ready

Commander A. H. Dresel said he was holding the ship in readiness for the flight, but that he would be unable to go aloft today, because of bad atmospheric conditions.

At the request of the Polish embassy and the management of the race, Secretary Dern instructed the army air corps to cooperate in the search for the two missing balloons.

Orders were sent to Major General Fox Conner commanding the First corps area, Boston, to direct the flying forces under his command to make a search along the New England coast where it is believed the balloons may have drifted because of prevailing winds.

CRIMINOLOGIST TO TESTIFY FOR LAMSON

Defense Hopes Experts Testimony Will Save Alleged Wife Slayer.

By The Associated Press

SAN JOSE, Calif., Sept. 9—Usually arrayed on the prosecution's side in criminal trials, E. O. Heinrich, Berkeley criminologist, today prepared evidence which the defense hopes will free David A. Lamson, on a charge of slaying his wife.

Heinrich yesterday began laying a scientific background for an expected contradiction of the prosecution experts' testimony.

A possible attack on the testimony of Dr. Frederick Proescher, state witness, was indicated as Heinrich referred to methods of testing charred blood and means of distinguishnig human blood from that of animals.

Dr. Proescher told of discovering evidence of blood on a piece of pipe recovered from a bonfire which Lamson was attending in the back yard of his Stanford university campus home just before Mrs. Lamson's body was found in the bathroom.

Proescher also said there were indications of charred blood on burned cloth removed from the fire.

Heinrich, whose career has been marked by the solution of puzzling crimes, will continue his testimony Monday.

READ PROMISES TO "TELL ALL" IN SUIT

Oakland Broker Ready To Talk About Claire Windsor Affair.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 9—A promise he will "tell all" was made today by Alfred C. Read, Jr., handsome young Oakland broker, who won the heart of Claire Windsor, blonde actress, while he still had a wife.

Read will be called as a defense witness Tuesday at resumption of the trial of his former wife's $100,000 alienation of affection suit against Miss Windsor.

Miss Windsor has testified she allowed Read to court her in belief he was a single man and to continue his attentions when he admitted he was married on his statement he was separated from his wife and contemplating a divorce.

Mrs. Marion Read divorced wife of Read, completed her case yesterday.

Mrs. Read was cross-questioned concerning her "affairs" with her husband since filing the suit.

CUBAN ARMY HEADS DEMAND OLD PRESIDENT

Formal Request for Restoration of De Cespedes To Power Made.

OLD POSTS ARE RECLAIMED

Promise of Changes Made by Junta as Swanson Leaves Harbor.

By The Associated Press

HAVANA, Sept. 9—Former Secretary of War Horacio Ferrer acting as intermediary between army officers and the new radical government, made a formal request today that Dr. Carlos Manuel De Cespedes be reinstated as provisional president.

Dr. Ferrer told the ruling junta that the army officers were unwilling to return to duty unless Dr. De Cespedes was reinstated "with ample power to reorganize the cabinet to make it representative of all political factions."

The officers, against whom the rank and file rebelled Monday in the coup d'etat which displaced President De Cespedes, defined their position at a meeting at the Hotel National.

Officers Meet

This was their answer to the demand of Fulgenzio Batista, former sergeant who was raised yesterday to the post of chief of staff that by 10 a. m. today they return to their posts in obedience to his orders.

About 300 officers participated in the meeting at the hotel, which was guarded by soldiers armed with machine guns.

The student directorate, after an all-night session, reiterated their confidence in the government. Commenting on this development Guillermo Portela, a member of the government's executive commission of five, said: "The revolutionary movement has been consolidated and the republic has been saved."

The proposal that Dr. De Cespedes return as president was not new. It was made informally yesterday and the ruling junta refused to consider it.

Rumblings of a possible coup against the four-day-old junta grew as 300 army officers were held virtual prisoners in the National hotel.

Attack Rumored

The government was said to have received reports that the officers, some of whom still count on the ...

Grave Concern Felt in Capital

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—Grave concern as to how much longer present conditions in Cuba can continue without disorders was felt today by American officials.

While latest official advices said no lives had been lost, the state department said frankly it did not know how much agitation and disorder might be taking place in the interior.

At Havana, where American warships lay alert and ready in the harbor, soon to be joined by the battleship Mississippi from Cardenas under orders today, Cuban governmental activities appeared at a standstill.

The crux was the question of how many days or hours a nation of 4,000,000 people can get along without more of a government and avoid a blow-up, especially with its military element divided.

Gets Welles Report

Secretary Hull, with relief apparent in his voice, told newspapermen that Ambassador Sumner Welles at Havana had informed him the hundreds of army officers massed at the national hotel against efforts of the rank and file to send them back to their ...

GRAND JURY INDICTS NINE

Six Cases Ignored and One Carried Over Until Next Term.

71 WITNESSES EXAMINED

Two True Bills Returned Against J. C. McClelland on Check Charges.

Nine indictments against eight persons were returned by the September term grand jury in its report to Common Pleas Judge George B. Seofield late this morning.

The jury, its report shows, examined 71 witnesses covering 15 cases. Six cases were ignored, one carried over to a future term.

Two indictments were returned against J. C. McClelland of Marion. One charges forgery, the other issuing a check without funds. McClelland's case was brought before the jury on a charge of having issued a $110 check purported to carry the signature of George Dalhi. Other persons indicted follow.

Others Indicted

William Stiffler of Marion, breaking and entering a storeroom of W. J. Guy with intent to commit larceny; Booker T. Johnson, colored, of Marion, cutting George Crowder with intent to wound, C. E. Jenkins of south of Marion, forgery with a count for uttering a forgery growing out of the issuance of a $7 check to which the name of T. H. Wyatt was affixed; William B. Martin of Iowa, forgery of a check for $12.50 and a count for uttering a forgery; Harry Ingmaier of Marion, rape of a 15-year old girl; Merle Mason of Marion, automobile stealing. Willie Thomas, colored of Marion; breaking and entering the residence of T. M. Sellers, colored, of Marion.

Three cases scheduled for consideration were not acted upon. Charges of manufacturing whisky, filed against Ralph Kenyon and William Kenyon, were passed by the jury because these cases are being handled in municipal court on charges of possession of whisky. An assault charge against George Vorhees of Marion was carried over to the next term because the prosecuting witness was out of the state.

OFFICIALS BUSY MAKING FINAL PREPARATIONS

Eighty-Third Exposition Best in History, Secretary C. G. Ritzler Asserts.

THREE DAYS OF RACING

Rush of Entries Indicates Elaborate Display of Farm Products.

The stage was set today for Marion county's outstanding agricultural event of the year, the eighty-third annual fair to be staged next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Entries were pouring in today at the office of Secretary C. G. Ritzler in the rooms of the board of elections and prospective exhibitors were preparing to place their displays on the fairgrounds Tuesday.

To make sure that no phase of one of the most elaborate fair programs in recent years had been overlooked the fair board this afternoon went over the grounds and reviewed a program packed with contests, free entertainment and exhibits that hold promise of being the largest in a decade.

Underway Tuesday

The starting gun of the fair will crack Tuesday, but most of the activity on the grounds will be among a few hundred persons who will be getting the displays and exhibits ready for the three big days to follow. Already the grounds are humming with activity, with harness horses from all over the state assembled for a three day race program. Concession holders will begin pouring in Sunday to reap their harvest of nickles and dimes.

While preparations were under way throughout Marion and adjoining counties to assemble the cream of the livestock and farm produce for friendly competition to see "who's got the best," fair officials rounded out a program of afternoon and night attractions.

The program includes such features as a countrywide tug-of-war contest, a countrywide horseshoe pitching tournament with three sets of prizes offered, a 'coon chase, trapeze artists who will perform on tight wires in both afternoon and night programs at no extra cost to fair visitors, three bands which will take turns entertaining fair crowds, districtwide horse show to be conducted nightly in front of the grand stand where, according to fair officers, "the best horse flesh in Marion and adjoining counties will be on display.

To be sure, there'll be the usual midway sideshows, concession games and contests, mechanical rides, pop and ice cream stands, industrial and commercial exhibits and all the colorful sidelights that ...

"BONE DRY" MAINE TO CAST VOTE MONDAY

Cradle of Prohibition Will Be 26th To Decide on Repeal.

By The Associated Press

Maine, the cradle of prohibition, the state which went officially "bone dry" away back in 1851, votes Monday on the proposal to repeal the 18th amendment.

Maine is the 26th state to ballot on the repeal question. All of the previous 25 have voted to wipe out national prohibition. A total of 36 is necessary before prohibition is repealed.

On Tuesday three other states—Maryland, Minnesota and Colorado—will register their will on the question. By Nov. 7 at least 36 states will have voted.

U. S. Navy Planes Complete Record Formation Flight

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—A proud navy today wrote a new achievement into its crowded annals—the longest non-stop formation flight in history.

Unchecked by storm winds, six planes in a single hop winged the 2,059 miles from Norfolk, Va., to Coco Solo in the canal zone.

When they landed last night, five of the fleet were timed for the long jump, in 24 hours and 55 minutes. The sixth dropped behind during the afternoon, but soon joined the flotilla at Coco Solo.

To Lieutenant Commander D. M. Carpenter, flight commander, and the 10 other officers and 26 enlisted men who made the flight, navy chieftains sped their congratulations. Acting Secretary Henry L. Roosevelt said:

"Sincerest congratulations on your splendid feat. The navy and the nation are proud of you for having accomplished the longest non-stop formation seaplane flight in history."

The six seaplanes left Norfolk at 5:30 p. m., Thursday night and passed over Cuba shortly after 8 o'clock Friday morning. From there, the usual course would have drawn the ships westward to follow the curving Central American shore line southward.

But instead, Carpenter led his planes in an 800-mile jump over the Caribbean sea, battling through stiff winds.

Navy officials said the longest previous mass flight was made by General Italo Balbo's planes when Italy's air marshal flew to Brazil in 1931. In his recent trip, the longest non-stop jump was 1,077 miles.

THREE CARS FIGURE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

John Myers, Resident of County, Suffers Injured Eye.

Three automobiles were damaged and a Marion county resident suffered an eye cut yesterday afternoon in a mishap on South Main street in front of the City library.

The injured man, John Myers, was riding in a car driven south on Main street by Gale Smith of seven miles south of Marion on the Delaware pike. He was treated at a physician's office.

The Smith car and one driven by Dr. H. W. Sager collided as Dr. Sager drove onto Main street from an alley. The two cars then careened to the opposite side of the street and struck a parked automobile owned by R. E. Hogan, a postoffice employe. The Smith car was taken to the Danner Buick Co garage.

U. S. SENDS WAGNER TO SETTLE DISPUTE

Hopes Brighten in Search for Sickness Serum

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 — Glimmering hopes of developing a serum for combating ravages of sleeping sickness spring today from the discovery that monkeys apparently have been inoculated successfully with the disease.

The public health service said seeming success in establishing the disease in monkeys was like starting a fire which once started, can be kept going. Progress in studying sleeping sickness would be easier and experiments hindered.

Members of the research laboratories of St. Louis where the disease is being studied have developed symptoms of sleeping sickness after being inoculated with material from human beings who died of the disease, although it is not absolutely certain as yet that the animals are infected with it.

The monkeys were inoculated with material from the brains of the sleeping sickness victims. They developed fever, tremors, lack of muscular coordination and weakness. Nervous systems of three of the monkeys have developed lesions like those of human victims of sleeping sickness.

Apparent establishment of the disease in monkeys also was said to open the possibility, though as yet remote, of manufacturing a vaccine or serum for either preventing the disease or aiding in its treatment. It might be made from the blood of diseased monkeys, much as serum for other diseases are made from the blood of infected animals.

Other rumors—unverified but nevertheless generally taken as explanations for the course of events—were that De Cespedes' secretary of war and others of high rank, plotted to unseat the leftist commission and replace it with either De Cespedes and his cabinet or by some "concentration" government.

Tending to confirm that rumor according to some observers, was the arrest of 16 men who were accused of planning a coup on behalf of former President Mario G. Menocal.

Meanwhile, with the departure from Cuban waters of the U. S. cruiser Indianapolis, carrying Secretary of the Navy Swanson, a promise was made of an improvement in the administration.

The promise came from Sergio Carbo, spokesman for the executive commission, and represented a departure from the junta rule.

Carbo said the commission, considered establishing a coalition cabinet with a president at its head, to replace the five commissioners.

Reports that American marines had landed in Santiago and Cienfuegos aroused considerable discussion among the various groups until Ruben Leon, a member of the student directory, announced he had authentic information that the marines had merely inspected the town and departed.

Advices directed from Cienfuegos denied that marines had landed at all and said a destroyer expected there had not arrived.

OFFICIALS CONFER ON STREET PAVING

Mayor and Service Director in Columbus in Interest of Work Here.

Mayor W. C. Phillians and Service Director E. O. Uncapher were in Columbus yesterday conferring with officials of the state highway department concerning the improvement of North Main street by the state department, financed by federal funds.

The city officials conferred with H. D. Schoonover, division engineer, about the program, but said today that no new conclusion about the work was reached.

The North Main street project has been placed on the department's program and city officials are anxious to determine when the work will start. They were informed that the highway department's planning division is now considering the project.

The mayor and service director also questioned department officials about the proposed widening and resurfacing of Kenton avenue from the Erie railroad to the corporation limits, but announced that no decision has been reached as to placing this on the department's program.

Next week, Mayor Phillians and Mr. Uncapher intend to confer in Columbus again with C. L. Moyer, planning engineer of the state highway department.

TRADE INCREASES

By International News Service

SHANGHAI—Marked by a few recessions China's import and export trade has inclined upward each year since 1600 the year which witnessed the beginning of China's rapid commercial expansion. Imports of merchandise into China, which amounted to 22,129,000 Haikwan taels in 1600, have increased consistently until the peak was reached in 1931 when purchases from foreign sources totalled 448,187,800 Haikwan taels.

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Sept. 9—Must seem like the old Republican days to the marines, to be loading on a boat and be going to somebody else's country to help 'em run it.

I see where some time today they are supposed to pick out Cuba's next week's president.

Our secretary of the navy has gone abroad to review the American fleet. Cuba don't care so much for a new president as they do just to see how quick the last one can leave town. If these last few presidents Cuba throws out have got as big a family as Machado had, Cuba will wake up some morning with no population.

ONE COUNTY SCHOOL AFFECTED BY BILL

Meeker Only One Included in Provisions of Amendment.

Only one Marion county high school, is likely to be affected by an amendment to the state administration's school bill, which The Associated Press reports might result in the abandonment of many small high schools over the state.

Meeker High school, with an enrollment of 56 pupils, is the only one in the county receiving state aid, County Supt. D. T. Mills said, and as such, is the only one affected by the amendment, which proposes to withdraw financial assistance from high schools in state aid districts with enrollments of 90 or less. The amendment is now before the joint legislative committee in Columbus.

Mr. Mills, however said there was a possibility that the Meeker school might be lifted out of the state aid classification by a recent act of the state legislature in providing a one-cent tax on each gallon of liquid fuel, with the proceeds to be used for school purposes.

BEVERAGE DEALERS MUST GET LICENSES

No Exemptions Made Under New Ohio Cap Tax Law.

Uncertainty regarding one phase of the Ohio beverage cap tax law was cleared up yesterday when County Auditor Earl E. Thomas received notice from R. R. Barnes, chief of the excise tax section of the state tax commission that a person engaged in the wholesale or retail of beverages, regardless of the price at which these beverages are sold, must have a $1 license obtained from the county auditor by Sept. 15.

Many dealers and some officials were under the impression, the auditor said, that dealers handling beverages that retailed for no more than five cents would be required to obtain a license, view of the fact they would not need any tax stamps for the beverages they handled.

As it is, the auditor explained, every dealer, regardless of what he is selling beverages taxable under the new law, must obtain a license by Sept. 15 if he continues to sell bottled beverages. Dealers holding beer licenses will not be required to obtain any further license for other beverages, officials said.

Electric Cookery Furnishes "Ten Keys" to Happiness

FOOD PREPARATION AN EXACT SCIENCE

Numerous Advantages Found in Use of Electric Range; Is Efficient and Economical.

Electricity has removed the preparation of food for human consumption from an uncertain art to an exact science. It has transformed the kitchen from a place which was at best the scene of laborious work to a dietetic laboratory.

Here are the "Ten Keys":

1. Electric Cookery is Modern—The electric range is a truly modern cooking machine that applies pure electric heat directly to the cooking operation. In this one respect, it is as different from all devices that use flaming fuel as is a present day airplane from the old balloon that floated over the fairgrounds.

2. Electric Cookery is Economical—Years ago, the cost of producing electricity was much greater than now. Then this country had fuel supplies in great profusion, and fuel was cheap. It was more expensive to cook electrically than with fuel. In the last decade or two, improvements in the electric art have brought the cost of electricity to its present extremely low level, while fuel supplies have diminished and increased in cost. Today, the unfavorable comparison between operating costs no longer exists: you can cook electrically for only one cent a meal per person. But the greatest savings are secured by the conservation of food. A roast cooked electrically weighs much more than one cooked by an old-fashioned method. When you cook electrically, there is no soot, no fumes to stain walls and draperies, no redecorating expense.

3. Electric Cookery is Convenient—You simply prepare food with your own time-proven recipes, place it in the oven, set the automatic controls, and you are free to spend your time as you please. You are given more time for your children, for recreation, for rest, for social work, for whatever your duty or fancy dictates — content in the knowledge that your electric range will duplicate results every time.

4. Electric Cookery is Fast—Electricity in itself is the fastest thing in the world and travels at the rate of 186,000 miles a second. It has taken years of research by engineering science to release this magic speed for cooking purposes.

The modern electric element brings glowing, intense heat into direct contact with the cooking utensils, with an absolute minimum of lost heat. There is no waiting with the improved high speed units which almost instantly respond to a turn of the control switch.

5. Electric Cookery is Clean—To have beautiful hands is a woman's delight, and electric cookery banishes the principal household task that causes rough, reddened hands—the constant scouring of pots and pans. Electric heat is just as clean and pure as sunshine and leaves no sooty, grimy deposit on utensils.

Old-fashioned flame cooking requires much air for fuel combustion and fuel ovens must have large quantities of air which pass off, carrying the fume-laden, grease-freighted air that is deposited on your walls and draperies, with an ultimate heavy cost for redecorating. On an electric range, the heating element takes no air and is completely enclosed in the oven, so that nothing is carried off. Not only is your home kept clean; the range itself has no stopped up, greasy burners. It is as easy to keep spotless as a china dish.

6. Electric Cookery Is Cool—Heavy insulation of the oven seals the heat inside where it is needed. Even with a temperature of 450 degrees inside, you may lay your hand on the outside of the oven. Formerly, the kitchen was always the hottest place in the house and one to be dreaded in summer as a "sweat-box." Today, with electric cookery, it may be the coolest.

7. Electric Cookery Is Accurate—The controls of an electric range are as accurate as the engineer's watch on the 20th Century Limited, for they must conduct the cooking operations alone, without the guiding hand of an "engineer." Two exact instruments do this—the electric clock and the electric thermostat. These two vigilant watchmen insure perfect results.

Electric Cookery Is Healthful—Your physician will tell you that old-fashioned cooking methods waste much of the health-giving elements in your diet. Electric cookery seals in the nourishing juices, so that food retains fully its delicious original flavor. It preserves the necessary vitamins and vital mineral salts which the body demands for proper development.

Another and equally important benefit is due to the fact that an electric range consumes no oxygen. For every cubic foot of fuel consumed by an open flame range, six cubic feet of air are devitalized. This robs your kitchen and the whole house of life-giving oxygen. With fuel cooking, the heat and fumes damage the complexion and militate against a healthy skin.

9. Electric Cookery is Simple—In more than a million homes that now employ modern economical electric cookery, the housewife has reduced her kitchen cares to a minimum. There is no need for her to work over a hot stove, burning hands and arms on hot oven doors and sides as she inspects and bastes the food. With the food in the oven, she merely selects the temperature for the meal, sets two dials on her control clock for starting and stopping the heat, turns the switch and goes on her way rejoicing—knowing that she will find a complete meal, perfectly cooked, ready to be served when she returns.

There is nothing to do in cooking electrically that you have not done for years. It is all so simple a child could do it, yet there is no possibility of failure, and your friends will marvel at your success.

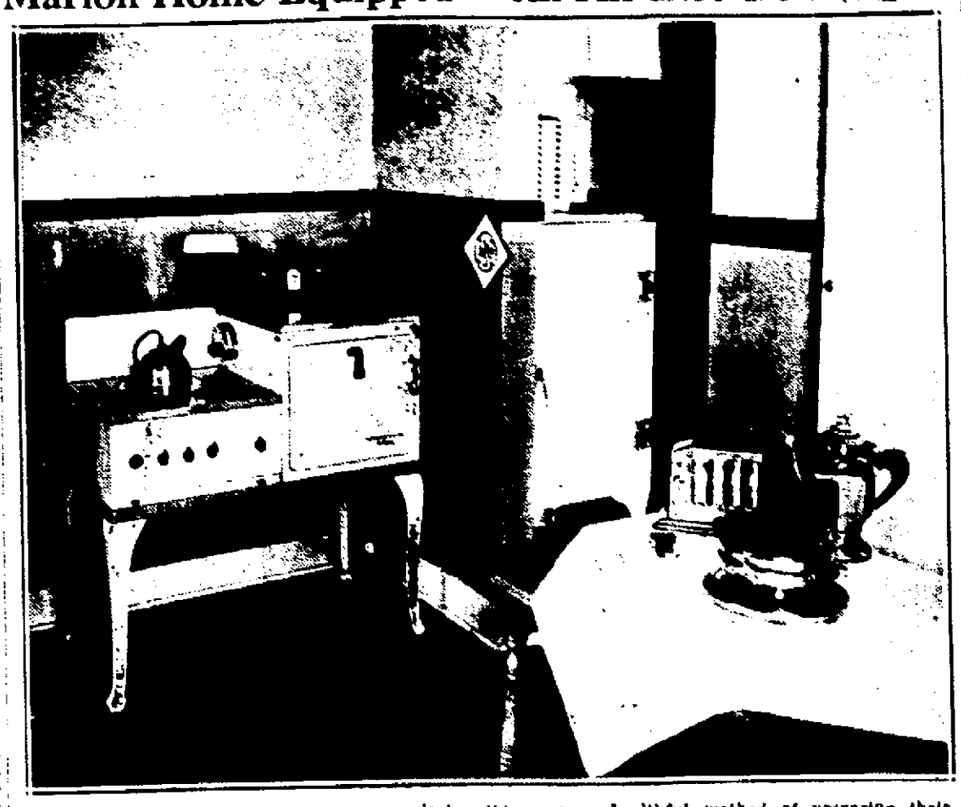
10. Electric Cookery is Safe—When you purchase an electric range, your home and your family will be protected by the safest as well as the most efficient cooking machine in the world.

When you lie down for an afternoon's rest—your dinner serenely cooking—you need have no fear of your children inadvertently releasing dangerous fumes. If you have a little helper, you may safely ask her to turn the switch that starts your meal, for the oven of an electric range does not produce explosive blasts. No need is there for loosely stored matches, no chance for leaky pipes or faulty flues, no consumption of precious oxygen, when pure electric heat does your cooking. Simply a switch that regulates the inexhaustible supply of power to a range that is perfectly safe.

Allow Plaster To Dry.

When the interior of a structure has been freshly plastered, allow the plaster to dry thoroughly before exterior painting work is started. If this caution is not observed, the heat of the sun will draw the moisture from the plaster through the wood and cause the paint film to blister and peel.

Marion Home Equipped With All-Electric Kitchen



Many Marion housewives are now enjoying this modern, healthful method of preparing their meals.

A typical all-electric kitchen is shown above, and is in the home of Mrs. Harold C. Thomas, 940 East Church street. Mrs. Thomas is very enthusiastic regarding every phase of electric cooking. In the morning when she arrives in the kitchen her coffee is all ready to pour, this little convenience made possible by the Automatic Time Control. Throughout the day, the many little advantages of her modern electric kitchen assert themselves and she finds many minutes of leisure time made possible by its fast, clean simplicity. Mrs. Thomas further testifies that her electric cookery is more economical than any other fuel she has ever used.

Throughout the United States a growing army of housewives add glowing testimonials praising the advantages of electric cookery.

Cost of Electric Ranges Materially Reduced

MODERN manufacturing methods and greater production have rapidly reduced the prices of electric ranges until at the present time a fully automatic, full-sized electric range may be installed in your home for less than $100. Such a range is at the present time being featured by The Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co. in a 60-day special campaign. With only a $10 down payment, this range may be purchased on the household budget plan with payments extending over a period of 10 years.

The ranges featured at this low price are manufactured by the Estate Stove Co., makers of heating devices since 1845. Every feature of convenience and quality formerly found on only the $200 models are now incorporated in those selling for less than $100.

The Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co. also features the famous General Electric Hotpoint ranges at the lowest prices in their history.

Now is the time to complete an electric kitchen. The rates and prices are the lowest in the history of Marion. Rates have steadily decreased, while range prices will soon increase under the government's inflation program, so it would seem that these two factors form an inducement to thrifty housewives to buy now.

ELECTRIC COOKING RATE UNUSUALLY LOW IN MARION

We are fortunate here in Marion having one of the lowest cooking rates found anywhere in the country. The special rate set up for cooking, heating and refrigeration provides a cost of 3 cents per kilowatt hour, while the general block rate permits customers to earn as low as 2½ cents per kilowatt hour.

This places the cost of electric cooking in a very favorable light compared to any other type of fuel and eliminates entirely the old "bugaboo" of electric cooking being expensive.

Remember Him

A SERMONETTE

BY REV. J. A. CARRIKER

Pastor, Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church.

IN his farewell letter to Timothy the [illegible] Paul reminded him of Jesus Christ. The great apostle had a real [illegible] in his own memory to Christ. He knew the transforming power that comes into a man's life from an intimate fellowship with Christ.

No better advice can be given to [illegible] who desires to live the right kind of a life. Remember Jesus Christ. It is brief but it [illegible] counsel, advice. The busiest person [illegible] wise him everywhere.

If we Christian people will just remember Christ as we go in our daily walk we will see His transforming power [illegible] around us.

If our business men will remember Christ as they [illegible] need to govern all of our economic practice.

If the student going away to college will remember Jesus Christ, the parents and interested friends need not fear the outcome.

With rulers who remember Jesus Christ, a great [illegible] need have no fear in following where they lead.

In remembering Christ in all your ways for one day and see what a transformation takes place. He asks us to remember Him always. Only when we remember Him can He help us.

Four Marion Ministers To Attend Conference

Ohio Methodist Church Meeting Will Open Next Week in Columbus; Speakers Named.

Four Marion ministers will be in attendance next week attending the sixth annual session of the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. Those who will attend are Dr. C. E. Turley of Epworth church, Rev. W. Martell George of Wesley church, Rev. Henry Maag of the Prospect Street M. E. church and Rev. Carl L. Lister of the Asbury M. E. church. Attorney John H. Clark will preside at a temperance anniversary program Sunday, Sept. 17 at Memorial hall.

Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Washington, D. C., will preside. The session will be held in the First St. E. church served by Rev. Charles Clifford Peale, former superintendent of the old Delaware district, which is now the Lima district of which the Marion churches are a part. His son, Dr. Norman V. Peale, of New York City, will be one of the conference speakers.

One of the principal speakers at the six-day meeting will be Dr. E. Stanley Jones considered among churchmen as the outstanding spiritual voice of today. Dr. Jones has written many books, among them "Jesus and the Problem of Suffering," which has just been released, "Christ of the Indian Road" and "Christ of Every Road." Dr. Jones recently returned from evangelistic mission work in India and China.

New Members.

Following the opening service of Holy communion, Wednesday at 9:30 a. m., and a preliminary devotional service, those ministers who were taken into the Ohio conference after the dissolution of the Central German conference last month, will be welcomed. Rev. Maag of Marion will be one of the ministers received into the conference.

The Ohio conference will receive about 5,800 members, 6,500 Sunday school scholars, and property assets valued at $3,250,000, according to church officials. Among the assets that will be taken into the Ohio conference are the Bethesda Institutions at Cincinnati, comprising a hospital with 295 beds, a home for the aged with 100 guests, a nurse school with 120 students, a deaconess and missionary training school with 91 students, representing a property value of $2,300,000, upon which there is a debt not exceeding $60,000.

Two university presidents, Dr. Edmund D. Soper of Ohio Wesleyan university and Dr. Robert Williams of Ohio Northern university will discuss the subject, "Can a College be Christian," at the afternoon session. A lecture by Dr. Jones will follow. At night he will address a mass meeting at Memorial hall.

Weygandt To Preside.

Chief Justice Charles V. Weygandt will preside at a fraternal hour program Thursday afternoon. Dr. M. H. Lichliter, prominent Columbus minister, and Dr. Jones will speak. The boards of home missions, church extension and foreign missions will hold anniversary services Thursday night. Dr. Jones will deliver an address.

Bishop William P. Thirkield, a native of Franklin, O., and now retired, a former head of a colored college in the south, and Dr. John W. McDowell, moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly will speak Friday afternoon. At night Dr. Merton S. Rice of Detroit, who has spoken several times in Marion, will deliver an address at a public meeting at Memorial hall.

The Saturday afternoon program will be given over to Women's Home and Foreign Missionary so-

SERVICES FOR SUMMER END

Most Marion Churches Will Resume Regular Sunday Evening Schedules.

Practically all Marion churches will resume night services Sunday. The union services which affected all but six churches, with the exception of the Emanuel Lutheran, and one of the churches in the outlying districts, closed last Sunday.

The closing of the union program was a result in the young people's groups resuming meetings in the separate churches.

Churches that were affected by the union plan of summer meetings were Trinity Baptist, Central Christian, Salem Evangelical, Epworth M. E., Prospect Street M. E., First Presbyterian, First Reformed, First United Brethren and the First Church of the Brethren.

Salem Evangelical church will not resume night services until October. Rev. H. C. Ahrens, pastor, announced today. Epworth M. E. church also will not resume night services for several weeks.

All of the churches will resume the winter schedule of young people's meetings at 6:30 and worship services at 7:30.

The three B. Y. P. U. groups at Trinity Baptist church are headed by Bernard Brooks, senior president, Miss Lois Ritzler, assisted by Mrs. Z. P. Davis, intermediate leader, Miss Elsie Bargar, junior leader.

REV. HENRY MAAG TO GIVE FIRST SERMON

New Pastor of Prospect Street M. E. Church Announces Meetings.

The Prospect Street M. E. church congregation will hear the new pastor, Rev. Henry Maag, deliver his first sermon Sunday morning. He has chosen for his subject, The Call to the Modern Church.

Rev. Maag, who will serve as pastor of the Marion parish which will include the Prospect Street and Zion and Bethlehem rural churches, has not as yet completed plans for the order of services at the three churches.

Sunday at 2:30 p. m. he will meet with the congregations of the Zion and Bethlehem churches, to work out a plan of services.

Rev. Maag has called a meeting of the official board for Monday night at 7:30 at the Prospect street church.

Rev. and Mrs. Maag arrived this week from Hamilton, O., where Rev. Maag served the German M. E. church for eight years. They have no children.

COUNTY FAIR WILL OPEN HERE TUESDAY

go in to a well rounded fair program, Secretary Ritzler asserted.

Premium money totaling $4,000 is waiting for the winners of the various contests and exhibit prizes.

Horseshoe pitching, which in recent years has been in the limelight with other contests this year under direction of Claude Beaver of 147 Olney avenue. For 10 cents, any resident of Marion county can enter in contests to be staged Wednesday and Thursday from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. in four courts to be located in the outfield just west of the race track and north of the grandstand. Each entrant will be allowed to pitch 100 times, and his score will be entered for daily prizes of $5, $3, and a set of pitching shoes. The six prize winners will stage a "round robin" tournament Friday afternoon to select a county champion.

Tug-of-War Planned

Another countrywide contest, to be patterned largely after a similar contest held last year, will be the tug-of-war. Sixteen teams will take part in the Wednesday night competition, and the eight successful teams in the Wednesday night pulling will meet Thursday night to eliminate four more teams. The four remaining teams will take part in final contests Friday night. Prizes of $40, $30, and $20, including a $10 award to be given each team entered, will be given the three winning teams.

Night Horse Show

The horse show, to be given each night in front of the grandstand, will include a showing of all the various in the horse show exhibit. "It's going to be the greatest horse show the Marion county fair has seen for many years," Secretary Ritzler promised, after looking at a lengthy entry sheet. In the draft horse class, Percherons, Belgians and grade horses will be shown, and in the road horse class there will be fancy, saddle and harness horses shown, he said. To head the horse show parade, the board has hooked a matched four-horse team, to be shown hitched. The horse show will be in charge of W. H. Lint of Pleasant township, superintendent of the horse department.

Band music will be furnished in the grandstand every afternoon and night as follows: Wednesday, Harding band of Marion; Thursday, Marion-Caledonia-Kirkpatrick high school band; Friday, Future Farmers band of Marion county.

Secretary Ritzler announced that he will receive entries until 9 tonight at the board of elections office. After tonight, the secretary's headquarters will be located in rooms under the north end of the grandstand.

The price of admission to the grounds this year will be 25 cents without any extra charge for automobiles. Admission to the grandstand also will be 25 cents. Membership tickets in the Marion County Agricultural society, selling for $1.25 each, include six admission tickets.

Junior Fair

One division of the fair around which countywide interest is centered is the Junior fair department, in charge of W. T. Owen. Any boy or girl in Marion county who has carried supervised project work in agriculture or home economics during 1932-33 school year is eligible to exhibit the product of his or her project in the fair this year.

The 'coon chase, previously scheduled for Wednesday at 10 a. m. has been changed to 4 p. m. on the same day to follow the afternoon races. The event will be open to dogs whose owners reside in Marion or adjoining county. Prizes of $5, $3 and $1 are offered.

BETHLEHEM GRANGE GIVEN HIGH SCORE

County Deputy Inspects Farm Group; State Fair Prize Received.

Bethlehem grange was given a score of 90½ per cent in the inspection conducted by County Deputy E. A. Williams at the meeting last night. It was announced that the grange had received $100 for its exhibit at the State fair, portraying the granges of the state as a whole. Announcement also was made of the district booster program contest to be held at Delaware Sept. 15 when Bethlehem grange will take part.

The literary program included a talk by H. T. Myers, grange representative of the regional agriculture corporation, piano duet by Magdalene and Helen Strine, a talk on "Education" by R. E. Copeland, superintendent of the Waldo school, trombone solo by Owen Strine, songs by Mr and Mrs. Harry Strine and family and a talk by County Deputy Williams on the scoring of the grange work.

In a "county fair" contest the awards were won by Miss Carolyn Lauer and ments were served.

Booster night will be observed at the next meeting Sept. 22 which will be open to the public. A miscellaneous shower will compliment Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Augenstein who were recently married. Mr. and Mrs. John Penry and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mountz will serve on the refreshment committee.

MACO TRIO WILL BROADCAST SUNDAY

The Maco trio of Marion will broadcast Sunday at 4 p. m. from WAIU in Columbus. The trio, consisting of Mrs. Esther Firstenberger, soprano, Miss Mildred Dufey, contralto and Fred Sabback, violinist, will broadcast "By the Beautiful Blue Danube," Strauss, "Shadow Waltz," Warren. Hungarian Dance No. 5," Brahms and "Mighty Lak' A Rose," Nevin.

Luke 10:1-16.

1. After these things the Lord appointed other seventy also, and sent them two by two before his face into every city and place, whither He Himself would come.
2. Therefore said He unto them, The harvest truly is great, but the labourers are few: Pray ye therefore the Lord of harvest, that He would send forth labourers into his harvest.
3. Go your ways: behold, I send you forth as lambs among wolves.
4. Carry neither purse, nor scrip, nor shoes: and salute no man by the way.
5. And into whatsoever house ye enter, first say, Peace be to this house.
6. And if the son of peace be there, your peace shall rest upon it: if not, it shall turn to you again.
7. And in the same house remain, eating and drinking, such things as they give: for the labourer is worthy of his hire. Go not from house to house.
8. And into whatsoever city ye enter, and before you:
9. And heal the sick that are therein, and say they receive you, eat such things as are set unto them, The kingdom of God is come nigh unto you.
10. But into whatsoever city ye enter, and they receive you not, go your ways out into the streets of the same, and say,
11. Even the very dust of your city, which cleaveth on us, we do wipe off against you: notwithstanding be ye sure of this, that the kingdom of God is come nigh unto you.
12. But I say unto you, that it shall be more tolerable in that day for Sodom, than for that city.
13. Woe unto thee, Chorazin! woe unto thee, Bethsaida! for if the mighty works had been done in Tyre and Sidon, which had been done in you, they had a great while ago repented, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.
14. But it shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the judgment, than for you.
15. And thou, Capernaum, which are exalted to heaven, shalt be thrust down to hell.
16. He that heareth me; and he that despiseth you despiseth me; and he that despiseth Me despiseth Him that sent me.

The Seventy Instructed

LUKE is the only gospel to give the instruction that Christ gave to the Seventy as they were sent out, in much the same manner that He had instructed and sent out the twelve disciples on their first journey.

Jesus had planned an extensive evangelistic trip, to again attempt to have the Jews accept Him as the Messiah. He was journeying towards Jerusalem, the capitol of the Jews, where there would be more of His people to preach to that the kingdom of God was nigh.

Realizing that the end of His preaching was drawing near, He chose seventy of His close followers, instructed them as He had the twelve. Those who were unwilling to accept Jesus and His teaching at this time were reminded of other calamities that had befallen the children. (Deut. 1:28 and Isa. 14:13-15)

He wanted this larger group to realize their work would not be easy, but then as now, 'the labourer is worthy of his hire.' Jesus tells these followers that those who reject Him pronounce their own doom, just as people do today.

Neighbors.

Glimpses of the other side of the question may be had in statements by spokesmen for Cuba's ruling junta. They are glimpses which strengthen a common conviction among many Americans that Cuba has little for which to thank the United States.

It appears that the new government's leaders do not take seriously the Cuban army's part in refusing support for former President Machado. When the American ambassador had made it plain that Machado must go, the soldiers decided that their chief's departure was more desirable than fighting. Being philosophers, they hastened his departing.

The new government charges the army with lack of sincerity. It finds in its personnel many figures who were too close to Machado. Its leaders believe that the former president was a puppet, manipulated by American financial interests which have been using the Platt amendment and its threat of intervention as a club over the Cuban populace.

It is said that feeling against the United States government is not so strong as is feeling against American capitalists whose holdings are the basis for past and present threats of intervention. The government was unable to get a Platt amendment in the constitution of France, where much American capital is invested. Cubans are quite sure, however, that with or without an amendment United States fighting ships would not stand ready to bombard French territory if the government got into trouble.

These are direction signs of Cuban thinking. The United States does not have the moral right to intervene in Cuban affairs. President Roosevelt and his advisers, anxious to protect American property, will do well to make up their minds fully on the question of their right to jeopardize American property in other Latin American countries by invading Cuba again. Nominally, this country has embraced a hands-off policy. Did it mean "hands-off" only until there was occasion to put "hands on," or can Latin American peoples be sure that the American word can be trusted?

Viscount Grey.

Memories of hectic days in 1914, from which sprang the monster of European war, are recalled by the death of Viscount Grey of Fallodon, Great Britain's foreign secretary from 1905 to 1916 and one of a handful of statesmen whose policies shaped the events that le dto the World war.

events that led to the World war.

Joyed the position held by Viscount Grey. His diplomacy gave Britain tremendous powers of decision. It is around his name that much of the discussion of what was done and might have been done to avert the conflict rages in post-war studies of the World war period.

Viscount Grey's diplomacy sought to keep Britain on a safe, middle course of neutrality. He made peace overtures to Berlin with one hand and carried on "in event of war" negotiations with Paris and Moscow with the other. His aim was to make Britain a balance of power between Germany and its enemies. His friends say he thought such a procedure would preserve peace; his enemies maintain that he straddled the issue and thus added to the suspicion and tenseness of Europe in the troubled period from 1912 to 1914.

When the assassination at Sarajevo touched off the war kindling that had been piled up, Grey was forced to admit the failure of his buffer policy. There is no doubt that he honestly and sincerely attempted to play the role of conciliator, but he finally was forced to ask parliament for a war declaration as Germany moved troops toward Belgium.

Just what historians eventually will do with his record is problematical. However, writers who dug into the ruins of European diplomacy immediately after the armistice have found themselves at wide variance in their estimates of him. His friends point to his efforts at conciliation, his obvious sincerity, his diplomatic finesse and Belgium's sacred neutrality. His enemies dwell on his acceptance of the dangerous theory that balances are required to keep peace, his slowness in acting after the Sarajevo incident, his open leanings toward Paris and Moscow as against Berlin and Vienna, and his failure to employ strong peace tactics when they were needed. Lloyd George has said that "Grey's hesitancy and lack of vision contributed to his failure to avert the World war."

He was a master of diplomacy; it was in his blood. And harsh as the future may be in its dealings with his conduct, it can never destroy the fact that he had a momentous career in which he acted with what he believed were his government's best interests always in the forefront.

Appreciation.

New ideas start slowly, but after they get rooted show rapid growth. Not many years ago people who counted for something wondered what to do with that gay girl, the bathing beauty. Now the same people, perhaps a little furtively, are wondering what the country would do without her.

It seems a pity to mar appreciation with misgivings, but honesty prompts mention of them. The fact is that there is nothing in the history of fashions to indicate that the bathing beauty, who is to a great extent the creation of bathing suit designers in her current role, can hope to continue to display her charms much longer.

Despite nudism and a general tendency toward free display of [illegible] areas, fashion can be expected [illegible] suits be exempt [illegible] are not, there will [illegible] in which mind [illegible]

Sound Banking.

Messenger from [illegible] ton have been making [illegible] ers that they are expected to [illegible] Bankers, in turn, have been making [illegible] of their credit policy that they have [illegible] intention of changing it.

They intend to proceed [illegible] the belief that the best banking practice [illegible] guarantees the greatest protection to depositors. They will not advance credit unless credit is due on a basis of unquestionable ability to pay. We praise our support and cooperation in the recovery campaign that is now under way and we point out that the banking support that is in the long run most effective and helpful is that which confirms the principles of sound banking, and which by so doing safeguards the institution and the funds of its depositors. This is the reply of members of the American Bankers association to President Roosevelt's plea for more liberal credit.

The same members, in convention at Chicago, are attacking actively the provision made for guarantee of bank deposits. They are demanding postponement of the deposit guaranty clause in the national banking act passed by the special session of congress and related to become effective the first of January, 1934. Their argument, apparently, is that depositors need no guarantee from banks under their new policies of conservative investment. Strangely enough, they object to it on the grounds that it would place a great burden on strong banks for the purpose of protecting weak banks.

Point by point and argument for argument the bankers' case is confusing. They seem to be trying to prove that bygones should be forgotten, that a new era has dawned in which bankers can be depended on to discard all the practices which caused them to lose the confidence of the people; that conservative lending is more important than national recovery, that they are best equipped to dictate what should be done with the country's supply of symbolic wealth. They take a good deal for granted.

Tell-Tale Incident.

Most newspaper people know what most politicians cannot understand: that the best way to stop a rumor is to block it with a fact.

Recently, a reputedly capable Berlin correspondent of an American daily was forced to leave Germany because a politician or several politicians apparently were afraid of facts. At least a dozen other correspondents have been obliged to do the same thing.

The Nazi government did not expel them directly. It employed a more potent device, by declaring that it could guarantee their safety no longer. There have been few, if any, governments willing to admit that they were unable to protect representatives of the foreign press.

The correspondent, author of a book on modern Germany, had been in that country nine years. His descriptions of events during that time have been so remarkable that he has earned an unique reputation for accuracy and analytical reporting.

His stories were not always creditable to German aims and methods. They were, in all probability, the same type of stories that Americans are accustomed to read about events in their own capital. The favorable actions were compared with unfavorable ones, to make a balanced picture.

Germany has fallen heir to Russia's distinction as the most maligned country in the world. Hourly, wherever people speak together, it is made the victim of rumors. Its political leaders are variously made out to be monsters and nincompoops, although in fact they undoubtedly are men not greatly different from politicians in the United States, England, France or any other country.

Apparently, Germany prefers rumors to facts. It has given every indication of having made such a choice. It does not want newspaper correspondents whose writing is frankly anti-Nazi and who are impervious to propaganda. Any government which takes such an attitude must expect to incur the charge of concealment.

Still Seeking Cause of Eczema.

Recently I told you about a number of disturbances of the skin and how they could be prevented and cured. Today, I want to tell you about another affliction of the skin, the cause of which is not known. I refer to the disease called "eczema," which is one of the most obstinate of skin disorders and extremely difficult to cure.

Eczema is most commonly found in infants and growing children, but it is occasionally encountered in adults. Infants who suffer from this disagreeable affliction are a pathetic sight. The skin is red and covered with scabs and crusts which have a persistent watery discharge. This leads to intense itching and suffering. As a rule, the inflammation involves the face, hands and forearms.

Great advances have been made in the treatment of this unpleasant disease, but, as I said, the underlying cause of the disorder has not as yet been discovered. It is more commonly found in infants who are bottle-fed, and is rarely encountered in children who are breast-fed. The disorder is believed to accompany some disturbance in digestion. There are authorities who think it is due to a peculiar type of sensitivity to certain foods in the diet of the sufferer.

The young victim of this annoying disturbance cries and scratches his skin in an effort to relieve the severe itching. For this reason it is advisable to place mittens or gloves on the hands of the child. This will prevent deep scratching of the skin and the danger of infecting it.

Mothers sometimes pin the sleeve of the sleeping garment to the crib so that the child is unable to scratch himself. I do not believe this practice is quite wise.

Bear in mind that even though eczema is a difficult disease to cure, it has been cured and can be cured. This is made possible only by careful study of the diet and the personal supervision of a physician. Too often the mother in her zealous attempt to cure her child resorts to the use of patent medicines and many salves recommended to her by well-meaning neighbors.

I want to impress upon you that a salve which is beneficial to one child may be irritative to another child. Skins vary in texture. Some are more sensitive than others. One medicine may prove to be mild for one person but too strong for another.

I am often asked by anxious mothers whether eczema is a contagious disease. Children often are humiliated and embarrassed when they notice that other children avoid them. There is no need for this because eczema is not contagious and cannot be transmitted from one child to another.

In older children eczema has been cured by the removal of localized infection somewhere in the body, such as diseased tonsils and adenoids. In others, when faulty elimination has been corrected, this has led to the cure of the skin affliction. It is essential that the child receive a thorough physical examination in an effort to determine the underlying cause.

Do not neglect eczema or any other inflammation of the skin. Consult with your physician immediately. Neglect may lead to a chronic disease which is even more difficult to cure.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

Betty G. Q.—What will straighten the legs?

A.—Consult an orthopedic surgeon for his opinion and advice.

Mrs. R.M. Q.—What should I give my eighteen-months-old baby — he has eczema quite badly and is also troubled with frequent attacks of bronchitis? I am giving him —— would this aggravate the eczema?

A.—Careful diet and regular elimination should be of general benefit and advantage. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

THE COLLEGE IDEAL.

There seems to be a definite change in the ideals of education today which is largely indicative of the world's thought.

The conception of culture as an end desirable in itself is fast disappearing, and we are in danger of turning both our schools and colleges into vocational institutions.

The roots of the difficulty reach back into the homes and into the ideals which they instil in the young people. College has become a universal goal for which every boy and girl is trained to aim.

There are a great many people for whom college is as unnecessary as a fifth wheel to a cart unless we decide to make the college education purely utilitarian.

Because we have stressed its importance so unduly, it has become to many young people a social training school where they may make valuable contracts for the future, which will help them in salesmanship or in society. To others it is an arena for sports, and brawn rather than brain is the essential gain which they expect to make.

Many look upon college as a trade school where they may prepare to be good secretaries, housekeepers, clerks and accountants.

It may have all of these aspects, but over and above these it should give something else—a preparation for a full and rounded life.

The child who is trained to accept it as a matter of course, and who approaches the college ideal simply because it is expected of him, with no real conception of life beyond earning a living is not fitted to sit at the feast which the college spreads before him. A trade school or a good club, either athletic or social, will do him quite as well and will save his wasting four years before he starts on his life work.

Highlights of Ohio History

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

MOSES CLEAVELAND.

Moses Cleaveland, the founder of the city of Cleveland, was far from the rough and ready sort that takes readily to the adventurous work of settling new country. He was born in Canterbury, Conn., in 1754, the son of a well-to-do family. He was graduated from Yale and practiced law before. In 1779, he entered military service and was made captain of a company of miners and sappers. He resumed his practice of law after the war and did well enough to be able to buy a share of the Connecticut Land company, formed to purchase the western reserve in Ohio. He was named one of the directors. Furthermore he had been a Connecticut legislator and was a brigadier general in the state militia. In 1796, the directors picked Cleaveland to head the band of 50 who went out to settle the reserve. The colonizer married Esther, daughter of Henry Champion, one of the largest shareholders in the company. The enterprise, however, was not a great success financially, and Cleaveland returned to Connecticut, dying in 1806 when the city which he had founded and to which he had given his name, was 19 years old.

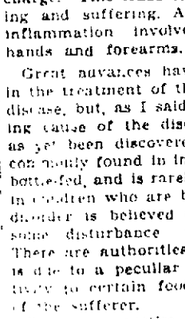
A Washington Daybook

BY HERBERT PLUMMER



HUEY P. LONG

Washington, Sept. 9.—From all indications one of the most interesting chapters in the varied and vivid career of Louisiana's Kingfish Long is about to open up.

Perhaps a no more novel attack on a United States senator could be thought up than that devised by those women of Louisiana who are seeking to make the United States Long-conscious.

Political observers in Washington are interested as to how the women are going about the task, but they admit that the idea has possibilities. They've seen women battle at the polls before.

How much of it into the late Senator Caraway of Arkansas is still remembered on Capitol Hill.

Senator Caraway was conducting his famous lobby investigation. He had summoned to the stand an energetic young woman who had been doing some successful work around the capitol for the sugar interests.

Caraway, flanked on one side by the late Senator Walsh of Montana, started questioning her in the same manner he had used so successfully on previous witnesses.

He didn't get very far. The young woman talked back to him and sent him scurrying. Even Walsh couldn't handle her. They both got her off the stand as quickly as they could. Senatorial dignity was getting a severe and unaccustomed drubbing.

From all indications Mrs. Hilda Phelps Hammond of New Orleans, who heads the campaign to get Long out of the senate, means business. At least her utterances thus far would seem so.

She has made it plain that not only is she and her associates out to get the "Kingfish," but every other senator they believe to be hanging back from investigating charges against him.

"When a sergeant-at-arms wrote far less serious charges against unnamed senators," she says "the senate very swiftly rose to defend its honor by investigating. Why doesn't it rise to investigate the Long charges?"

Long himself professes not to be worried over the matter. He has denounced the movement as "ousted politicians hiding behind skirts of women."

He says that the leaders of the movement are the women folk of those he has defeated in politics and those dismissed from the state's service.

But veteran observers say he may not be able to dismiss the matter so lightly.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Sept. 9—From midnight until dawn I sat in the salon [illegible] of expectant fathers in a New York maternity hospital. While I sneaked up some [illegible] the new parents [illegible] who inhaled [illegible] packages of [illegible] mostly, the mind [illegible] was far away.

Waiting [illegible] crisis, [illegible] statistics [illegible] births in the world [illegible] I [illegible] a man an [illegible] husband and [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] Charles G. Norris and I thought how much my life would be were I born again. One thing certain: I would prefer [illegible] a New York town.

I [illegible] great [illegible] sing that perfect [illegible] the front porch in the [illegible] of a summer evening [illegible] of family communion is almost [illegible] How common [illegible] of trees in sleepy villages. A cheering link with an enduring peace, as Tennysonian.

What I have [illegible] and most in the [illegible] to the calm of dusk, the queer [illegible] of shadows as night paints [illegible] out. Instead of the low cadence of crickets, the fierce buzzsaw of traffic. Instead of fireflies, the darting zig-zag of enormous electric beacons. I shall always miss the splendor of rural sunsets.

Somewhere I have read in a rich autobiography of life that no one, living all years in a small town, is ever completely happy in a city. I lacked two years of 20 in the hills, but I subscribe to that. The same rule applies to the city bred who migrate to smaller communities. All of which doubtless counts for the sociological fact the most supremely happy people are those who live and die where born.

But about being born again. I'd like to be far handsomer. Somewhere between Jack Buchanon and Warren Williams would do. A pair of shoulders like Herb Roth's might help. They could leave me my ears. They are rather dandy. I would attend a fresh-water college. I've always had a leaning toward Wabash. Newspaper work would be my choice and the Kansas City Star my first hope.

Assuredly I would never use tobacco. Of all Life's naggers, Nicotine is the most relentless. I would not start gaining until about 40. Then I would make it none and marry, as I did, at 24. I'd learn one language other than my own perfectly. French preferably. Or Spanish second choice. From there on high to a duck up to and including the doddering age I'd have a ball around. Dietrums. I believe play important part in human [illegible] light breakfast, no lunch and [illegible] Arnold Bennett calls a [illegible] ner is my idea. One sometime [illegible] to live 40 years to become [illegible] to the glow of calling on the [illegible] and encouraging the struggler. And sometimes even longer to [illegible] the poisonous futility of hate. I [illegible] again, I'd never contract a [illegible] debt. Not because of any particular conscience twinge. Glimpses of the Past

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Sunday Sept. 9, 1923.

Thousands of tourists continued to visit Marion cemetery to view the vault in which the body of the late President Harding had been placed until a permanent last resting place was provided. This day's visitors were estimated at between 5,000 and 6,000.

The Marion Athletics baseball team scored its sixteenth victory of the season by defeating the Port Clinton team at Lincoln park, 13-4. Sharrock pitched for Marion.

Dr. Jesse Swank, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, gave the address at a Masonic memorial service held in Canton as a tribute to the late President Harding. The Marion minister's subject was "The Real Mr. Harding."

Rev. W. C. Halwachs of Cleveland, addressing members of the graduating class of the Sunday School Teachers' training school at Calvary Evangelical church, advocated placing Bibles in the public schools.

A "harvest home" service was held at Salem Evangelical church in charge of the pastor, Rev. A. J. Koch.

It was Tuesday, Sept. 9, 1913.

Howard Zimmerman, 17, [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Zimmerman, north of Marion, died at Mt. [illegible] hospital in Columbus of injuries suffered when he fell from the top of a barn at his home.

Misses Hope and Ruth [illegible] gave a reception to about [illegible] men friends at their home [illegible] Vernon avenue in honor of Miss Herman S. Rhu, who had recently returned from her wedding trip. Miss Abigail Harding, who had been abroad during the last year, and Miss Mary Briggs and Miss [illegible] Williamson of Somerville, N. J., who were house guests at the Harding home.

Mrs. John Cleveland entertained a group of friends at her home on Girard avenue in honor of her sister, Miss Anna Sechrist, who is to be married soon to Clyde [illegible]

3-DAY PROGRAM OF COUNTY FAIR RACING TO OPEN WEDNESDAY

Two Hundred Horses Expected By Officials in Various Events.

A three-day program of light harness racing which fair officials predict will be the best ever offered at the Marion county exposition is scheduled next week at the Marion county fair. The fair starts on Tuesday, and the races will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons. There will be no racing Tuesday.

Two harness races and a mule race are scheduled Wednesday, starting at 1 p. m. The first race will be for two-year-olds for a purse of $150. The second will be the 2:26 pace for a $200 purse. The mule race, a half mile affair, will be for a purse of $30.

Three events are scheduled Thursday, the classified trot for $300, the 22 class pace for $250 and the 26 class trot for $200.

Three harness events and a pony race are billed Thursday, the final day. They are the classified pace for $300, the 22 class trot for $250, and the 17 class pace for $250. The pony race will carry a purse of $17.50. It will be over the half-mile route.

All races will be run under the three-heat plan with five horses to enter and four to start for a race. Fair officials estimated today that at least 200 horses will be on hand to compete in the races. A large number of these will be owned and driven by residents of Marion and the surrounding counties.

George W. Rauh of LaRue, a veteran starter, will serve as starting judge for all the races. It will be Raub's first year in the judges' stand of the Marion fair although he has been starting horses at other places for many years.

Ohioan Gets Post.

By The Associated Press

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 9—P. W. (Red) Griffiths comes to Gettysburg college as assistant football coach this fall, fresh from a business career in Marietta, O. Former head coach at Dickinson college and line coach at Penn State, Griffiths succeeds Charley Gelbert, St. Louis Cardinals' shortstop who took the job this summer but subsequently was advised by physicians to give it up on account of leg wounds he suffered while hunting last fall.

Grid Spirit Soars

THE advent of a new head coach of Harding High football seems to have been the sign for an awakening of football enthusiasm in Marion. Since Jack Cheadle rolled into town from Defiance—where he coached the last two years—and took over the helm of the Presidents, interest in the Red and Black grid combine has steadily mounted.

Let's hope this enthusiasm is not of the fair weather variety. Cheadle comes here to take charge of an antiquated athletic system which does not even begin to measure up to the standards of the majority of schools of this size. Cheadle has little with which to work. The possibilities of his getting much more, at least for the present, are not very bright. An efficient athletic system is not built over night and athletic equipment costs a lot of money. A lot of money happens to be something which the Harding athletic association doesn't possess at the present time.

No Title This Year

I DON'T think Cheadle is going to produce any great football team this year. Building a championship team isn't accomplished over night unless one has an exceptional lot of material. Cheadle doesn't have this kind of material. He has, however, a group of boys who should be moulded into a far stronger grid aggregation than the ones which have lugged the Red and Black colors into battle for the last two or three years.

A Different Team

A FEW days of watching the Harding grid candidates in practice has convinced me that future foes of the Presidents are going to run into a team far different than any Harding team which has taken the field in the last few seasons. It will be a team, I am convinced which will have far more zip and dash than any Harding team in several years, a team which will take its lickings now and then but which will be in there banging away when the final gun cracks.

There is plenty of reason for expecting this type of football at Harding now. A football team, for the most part plays just like it practices. A few days of light hearted hit and miss drill isn't going to produce any hard fighting football team. If there is anyone who thinks Harding is practicing in this manner at present, I suggest they take a run out to the silk mill field and see for themselves. What they'll see is a bunch of boys working harder than they ever worked before in a Harding grid suit. I have a hunch most of this dash and energy will be carried into actual combat. At the same time I have a suspicion some of Harding's foe are going to discover they have bumped into something pretty tough before the season is completed.

All That's Necessary

HARDING isn't going to have a championship team this year. I'm willing, however, to put myself out on a limb to the extent of saying I think it will have a hard working club which will be a credit to the boys themselves, to Cheadle, to Marion and to everybody concerned. That's about all one can ask, at least right now!

NORRIS IS WINNER IN SECOND FLIGHT

Vanquishing Walter Hughes in the final round by a one hole margin, Dick Norris captured honors in the second flight of the Mar-O-Del club's men's championship tournament. Norris waded through four rounds of play to finish in front. Sam Sharrock, club champion last year, was the first to fall, followed by Ross Fogel in the next round and Eddie LaBeau in the semi-finals.

John Waddell captured the third flight crown by beating George Stafford in the finals, 5-4.

ANGELO SIGNED FOR TIFF WITH M'NAUGHT HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Rough and Tumble Stars To Clash in Two-Hour Mat Battle.

When a Canuck ax swinger meets an Italian hatchet man anything is liable to happen.

Certainly things will happen in the Steam Shovel Gym Monday night when Scotty McNaught, the rough and ready Canadian from Montreal tackles Martino Angelo the rowdy Italian from Buffalo N. Y. in the two best out of three falls main bout of the weekly mat program at the gym.

The signing of these two rough house artists to battle here assures local mat fans of a stirring mat battle.

Angelo is a veteran of many thrilling mat engagements in Marion and such men as Les Fishbaugh, Charlie Carr, and the Black Panther have fallen before his offensive here. He's met many rough matmen here and he has never bowed his head in rough matwork.

McNaught is more or less of a newcomer. The Canuck master of the sensational flying short arm scissors is also a "sandpaper" artist of considerable ability.

In fact McNaught and his pet hold outrought and defeated Les Fishbaugh here last week. That's no mean feat and establishes McNaught as something more than a mere flash in the pan when it comes to class on the wrestling pad.

Just how tough he really is will be pretty definitely determined Monday night when he gets on the mat with the bashing Buffalo Wop.

The semi-final Monday will see the return here of the popular Schenectady, N. Y. star Johnny Stott who has been more or less of a stranger to local fans in the last few months.

Johnny has been on a trip through his native east and he cleaned up everything in his path while on his tour.

Stote will oppose the Baltimore Md., Greek, Billy Londos, cousin of Jim Londos, heavyweight champion in the two best out of three falls semi-final.

Londos, on his last appearance here really got in the fans' hair and they'll all be pulling for Stott to pin his ears back Monday night.

Booster Club Seeks Site for Football Field

Twenty-five members of the Harding Booster club gathered in the Marion club rooms at Hotel Harding last night for an informal reception honoring Gerald E. (Jack) Cheadle, Harding High's new football coach and to discuss plans for the Booster club activities during the present football season.

The principal efforts of the club are now being centered on the obtaining of a new field for the Harding team this year. Several sites are under consideration and a committee of school and club officials will make a tour of these sites today. They will probably decide which one will be used following this inspection. The Steam Shovel athletic field, Lincoln park and Harding field are the three sites under consideration. As soon as the decision is made work will be started on putting the field in the best possible shape for the season.

The Booster club also hopes to start work again soon on the permanent new field which was started a couple of years ago and then temporarily discontinued because of the failure of the Marion National bank in which the club's funds were deposited.

Several other matters pertaining to the Harding football team were discussed and committees named to look over the problems. Another meeting will be called within a short time, probably some time next week.

COLUMBUS FAVORITE TO TROUNCE MILLERS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 9—The experts will tell you that Columbus rates about a 1 to 2 choice to defeat Minneapolis in the post-series playoff here for the American Association pennant but Joe Hauser and his mates are confident of scoring an upset.

Although they were defeated in four straight games by the Red Birds on their last visit to Columbus, the Millers have been hitting the ball briskly during the closing days of the regular season and are gunning for the offerings of the star hurling trio of the Cardinal farm—Clarence Heise, Paul Dean and Bill Lee, who have won 39 games between them this season.

The series, a regular four out of seven affair, will open at Columbus, Tuesday. Night games will be played Wednesday and Thursday. If games are not postponed, visits at Columbus, the teams will open the championship series to Minneapolis, where they share Saturday and Sunday doubleheaders. If rooms have been rented for games,

HARDING NEEDS GRID EQUIPMENT

Harding High school's football team is badly in need of some additional equipment and is with out funds to purchase it, discussion last night by the Booster club disclosed. Booster club officials believe there are numerous former high school and college players in Marion who own equipment not now being used who would be glad to give it to Coach Gerald E. Cheadle for use in helping to equip his charges. A request is therefore being made that any individual who has equipment no longer of use to him give it to the Harding team. The team needs equipment of all kinds but is particularly in need of shoes.

This equipment may be left at the Markert & Lewis store at any time.

GEHRIG SPURTS BUT FOXX RETAINS MOST OF BATTING HONORS

Simmon Skids To Fourth; Klein Far Ahead in National.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—It was Jimmie Foxx against Lou Gehrig for major league batting honors in the past week and Foxx captured most of them.

While National league aces were just breezing along with Chuck Klein so far out in front no one expected to catch up to him, Foxx put on a hitting spree that boosted both his home run record and his batting average in the week which ended with yesterday's games.

Gehrig charged right after him, gaining second place in the American league race. Foxx hit safely 11 times and five of his wallops were homers. This gave him 42 circuit swats and sent his batting mark up six points to .364. Gehrig made nine hits, including three homers, and brought his average to .338.

Al Simmons, second a week ago, lost seven points and went down to fourth place at .329, three points behind Heinie Manush.

Klein's three point loss reduced his average to .378 while the second-place man, Spud Davis, lost just as much and wound up with .344. Klein also figured in the home run swatting, getting two during the week to one for Wally Berger and pulling out in front of the Boston ace, 27 to 26.

Marion Horses Compete Union County Fair Races

A number of horses known to residents of Marion and vicinity took part in harness events at the Union county fair this week at Marysville.

In the first division of the 2:28 pace, Patchen Girl, owned by John Fellmuth and driven by Wayne Smart of Newark, finished 4-1-1 in 2:15-2:13 and 2:16. In this event Marion Chan, property of L. L. Aller of LaRue, and driven by Pifer finished 2-4-3, while Buddy Buster owned by Graham and Lauer of Norton and driven by Craine was 9-8-9.

In the second division of the 2:28 pace, Princess Chan from the Aller stable, driven by Pifer, was 2-7-4, while Standhope from the Palmer stable, driven by William McCurdy, finished 4-3-6. The time of this event was 2:14½-2:12 and 2:12.

Oil In the Can Wins

In the 2:24 trot, Oil in the Can, driven by McMahon of Marysville, and owned by H. F. Bloom of Marengo, was 1-1-4. The time was 2:14-2:21 and 2:15. In the same event Leo the Tramp, owned and driven by Worline of Ashley finished 3-2-2.

In the 2:24 pace, Miss Pauline Oakland, owned and driven by Crane of Marion, finished 3-3-4. The time of the event was 2:10½-2:10½ and 2:14½.

Two of the sensational trotters of the grand circuit, Mary McKinney (2:03¾) from the Dearborn Stable of Henry Ford, and Allie Waits McKinney (2:04) coming north this spring from Tennessee, and winning at Zanesville, Marion, Cleveland and Toledo, and then sold to Massachusetts parties, are sired by Arion McKinney 2:05¼, the property of G. W. Elliott of Horseshoe Bend road, south of Norton, in Delaware county. These two daughters of Arion McKinney were both eligible to the slow classes at the beginning of the season and as their records indicate have joined the charmed 2:05 circle.

Tramp Ideal In Front

At Dayton Harry Craig placed Tramp Ideal 2 1-3 in the handicap trot in spite of the fact he raced with a 60-foot handicap and against a field of good horses. Tramp Ideal is the property of O. C. Pollock of Delaware. Craig maintains his training stable and headquarters at the Marion track.

Calvin May, pacer formerly owned by C. E. Deyson of this city, is doing good work for his new owner. At Iona, Mich., Aug. 18 in the 2:10 pace he finished 2-2-2 in 2:10¼, 2:09 and 2:10, while at Marshall, Mich., Aug. 23, he finished 1-1-1 in 2:09¾, 2:09¾ and 2:11¼.

FOUR TILTS SUNDAY IN SOFTBALL MEET

Marion County Tournament Will Be Resumed at Lincoln Park.

At least two teams will be eliminated Sunday from the race for the championship of the Marion county softball tournament. The tournament is being conducted each Sunday at Lincoln park under the direction of L. L. Clendenen. Four games are scheduled Sunday, the first starting at 1 p. m. and the others following at intervals of one hour.

Numerous prizes will be awarded by the tournament management, both to players in the tourney and to spectators.

The Sunday schedule follows:

Babcock A. C. vs. High Radio Shop; Pleasant Township vs. First Ward A. C.; Harruff Tires vs. Marion Paints, and Short Line Grocers vs. losers of Babcock-High Radio tilt.

CHILLICOTHE TEAM TO PLAY GREYS HERE

Colored Clubs To Clash Sunday on Fairground Diamond.

With several new faces gracing the lineup, the Marion Merchant-Greys, the city's only colored diamond representatives, will cross bats with Chillicothe at Adams filed at the fairground Sunday. The Chillicothe team, another colored outfit, is bringing a strong club here, having emerged victorious in a majority of games played this season.

Manager Harry Adams announced today that he had signed several new boys for his club in the hope of bolstering the team's defense.

Bill Adams will toe the slab for the Greys against the southern Ohio team with Jones backing up the plate. The game is called for 2:30.

TWO DIAMOND TILTS ARRANGED FOR FAIR

K. of P. To Play Gasco and Waldo Lutheran Softball Teams.

Softball has been aded to the sports program of the Marion county fair next week, C. G. Ritzler, secretary of the fair board announced today. Two games are scheduled, one Thursday and one Friday. Both games will start at 5:45 p. m. on the diamond on the inside of the racing oval at the fairgrounds.

The Gasco club, champion of the city, will meet the K. of P. lodge nine Thursday. The Waldo Lutheran Sunday school will meet the K. of P. Friday. Both of these games were arranged following the issuing of challenges by the K. of P. manager, Carroll Davidson.

COUNTRY CLUB TO PLAY MAR-O-DEL

The annual battle for supremacy between the Marion Country club and the Mar-O-Dell golf club will be launched Sunday over the Mar-O-Del course, Chuck Ulrich, manager of the Mar-O-Del course announced today. Next Sunday the second round of play will be staged over the Country club course.

Dick Hoffhines was the winner yesterday in the annual Mar-O-Del caddy tournament. Hoffhines won from Eddie Dutt after an extra nine holes of play in which he shot a 40 against a 44 for Dutt. The boys were tied at the end of the regulation distance. Hoffhines wins a free entry to the Marion county amateur by copping the caddy laurels.

Lecture-Recital Club Plans Interesting Program for Year

A PROGRAM of outstanding merit in both talent and entertainment has been arranged by members of the Marion Lecture-Recital club for their season of 1933-34 The series has been well grouped into concerts, lecture-recitals and twilight musicales offering music lovers of Marion and vicinity a varied selection of musical entertainment and study.

The programs are appearing this week, simultaneously with the intensive campaign to be staged by the active members for a large patronage list this season. The programs this year, as formerly, will serve as the patron's admission to each of the meetings While former patrons are being solicited this season an effort will be made to add to the list and special effort will be made to interest Marion men in the concert series, the program committee announces. Persons interested in the year's program, not reached by the members in charge of the ticket sale, are asked to call some member of the club.

First Program Oct. 8

The opening number on Oct. 9 will bring to Marion Miss Miriam Otto, pianist and Franklin Bens, tenor. Miss Otto is a graduate of Western college where she studied under Mrs. Edgar Stillman Kelly and since that time she has been a student at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music Mr Bens, who is a tenor soloist at WLW, is a post-graduate pupil of John Hoffmann at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music

On Nov. 13 the club chorus, under the direction of T. R. Evans, assisted by Mrs H. K. Mouser, pianist and Mrs. A Merle Hamilton, reader, will present the program.

Miss Miriam Smart, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Earl T Smart of Franklin street will be heard in a piano concert Jan 8, shortly after her return from London where she is studying with Tobias Matthay

The Feb. 12 program will include music by the Colonial quartet with Miss Clara Leffler as violinist and Miss Madaleine Dunlap, soprano soloist.

An evening of chamber music will be presented by the Haydn string quartet of Columbus of which Vera Watson Downing is director, on March 12, and opera night, with music by the Marion Civic orchestra and members of the club, will be observed on April 9.

Oriental Program

Music of the Orient will interest members and patrons the night of Oct. 23 with a part of the program presented in costume This will be the first of the Lecture-Recitals Miss Etelka Evans will be presented as a guest artist in her interpretation of "Romance of the Violin," on Nov. 27 and a program, "Christmas with the Composers," will be presented Dec. 11 This program will include vocal and instrumental numbers with Mrs. W. D. Brown as the narrator.

"Women in Music" will be the topic presented on Jan 22 and on Feb. 26 the program will center around "Musical Art in Russia. The last of the lecture-recital series will be the annual program of the Junior Lecture Recital club on March 26.

The twilight musicals will be presented in the First Presbyterian church and will be open to the public. The first will be given on Sunday, Nov. 19, the second on Feb. 18 and the third on March 18.

Programs at Hotel

With the exception of two of the lecture-recital programs which will be held in homes of the members, the twilight musicals and the Christmas program on Dec. 18 when "The Messiah" will be presented by the Marion Concert association, the meetings will be held at Hotel Harding

Miss Grace E. Kline is president of the club. Mrs Clyde T. Coulter is program chairman, with Mrs. George G. Kleinmaier as assistant and publicity chairman. The patron ticket sale is in charge of Miss Virginia Bachman, assistant ticket chairman.

Local Couple Wed Fifty Years, To Celebrate Today

Just Things

Twins

TWINS are a source of unending interest in any neighborhood and the particular pair is no exception. In just what ways they are alike what traits they have that are different and dozens of other considerations of no consequence in any way could provide material for a whole afternoon. The pair nigh with Jimmie and Tommie is which is which and after about two years or so the neighbors really feel they should be w them apart. Trying to find out how wet the juveniles in the neighborhood were getting along with telling them apart a grownup pointed out the question to a group of some seven or so summers. Of course I can tell them apart" was his reply, "I just say come over and sit down with me Jimmie and if he comes I know it's Jimmie.

Picnics

THE super test of good disposition is a picnic If five persons can spend the day on a picnic, travel scores of miles and return home amiable and happy and at peace with one another and the world they're real picnickers. For a real picnic one must be wedged in under the thermos jugs and basket. Then there's the problem of where to go, for despite the fact the spot has been agreed upon, did any one ever go to the place? For real excitement there's nothing like trying new roads because that gives the road map custodian a chance to talk and be heard and provides endless opportunities for arguments And whoever went more than a dozen miles that someone didn't want to know "when do we eat?" One is thankful for small calamities during the dinner such as having the coffee cup overturn or one's hat being mistaken for a cushion. Then there's the journey home when one wonders where the pep of the morning has vanished, and the day's climax is when the juvenile member of the party refuses to sit any place but on the guest of honor's lap.

Poems

WHY doesnt some bard write a poem to a "lost" tooth. We mean that has been removed via the dentist's pincers route. There's all the essential elements, sentiment, (for who likes to part with one) agony as one approaches the chair, pathos, for surely the hardest hearted dentist feels sorry for you pain, not any real, honest-to-goodness hurt, but there might as well be for who isn't always expecting it, and sadness, for who isn't low when the man in the white coat says nonchalantly "I'll be two weeks before I will put another tooth in."

10 INITIATED BY LEGION AUXILIARY

Ten candidates were initiated when the auxiliary of Bird-Morris Post No. 162, American Legion met last night in the dugout. The charter was draped for Mrs Streeter G Smith, one of the charter members of the auxiliary.

Mrs Emma Knappenberger and Mrs. Katherine Tuttle who were delegates to the state convention in Lima recently, gave their reports. Refreshments were served in a social hour.

The annual election of officers will be conducted at the next meeting, Sept. 22.

"You're sure you got Dollaire?"

"Every one. I tell you. Sure, we ...got Dollaire. But how'd he make ...his getaway in the cabin?"

BUCK O'MARA lighted a cigaret ...deliberately.

"He got the idea on a neat play," he said quietly; "I'll give him credit for that—and he got Benny."

"The hell he did!" Geordie Napp sucked in his breath. "That's——"

"Yes; it is!" Buck O'Mara broke in, his voice gone suddenly hard. "Only I don't want to talk about it. You fellows got your orders from Heimie for the rest of the night?"

"Sure," said Klengell. "We know where the revenue birds are tonight, so that's jake. We've got time enough before daylight to get the goods off. Then we put the crew to bed in the hold with the hatches on and sink the schooner." He chuckled. "Ever hear of ships being lost at sea with all hands, and never heard of no more?"

"All right," said Buck O'Mara tersely. "That's your and Heimie's end of it. Remember what I told you about tomorrow night. There'll be a juicy cut in this for all of us. The Mask'll pay bigger for tonight than he ever did before even if there ain't a case landed. That's all just velvet. It was Dollaire he was after—and we all know why. Smudge, get my mob together, and take us ashore."

"That's listens good to me," said Geordie Napp. "But, say, Buck, what about Benny? What are we going to do with Benny? He sure was one swell guy, and he deserves a swell funeral."

Buck O'Mara lifted his shoulders in an important shrug.

"A parade, you mean," he said, "with the papers asking where the corpse was found and who did it? Think it out for yourself, eGordie. I don't like it any more than you do, but he'll have to go with the rest."

"That's tough," muttered Geordie Napp; "but—well, I guess you're right, Buck."

"It isn't a guess," said Buck O'Mara. "Good luck, you fellows. Let's scram, Smudge. Come on, Clarkie."

Blood was trickling hotly down Colin's hand as he boarded the motor cruiser. He saw Buck O'Mara and Smudge Kilrea enter the wheelhouse, then he made his way down into the cabin, where the rest of Buck O'Mara's murder squad were gathered.

He took off his coat and rolled up a blood-soaked sleeve. It was a flesh wound, no more than that—nothing serious about it except that it had been bleeding profusely. Some of the mob put a rough bandage on for him. They asked no questions. This time he felt physically a little giddy, a little nauseated. He went upon deck again.

THE boat was speeding for the shore. The wind whipped his face. The faintness passed. There was but little pain in his arm—scarcely enough to make him conscious of it. It was not his arm, it was his brain that tortured him. And, fight against it as he would, the night with its scenes and sounds of unbelievable horror kept passing again and again in review before him.

Only one thing stood out in compensation. He must inevitably have grown in Buck O'Mara's estimation—and Buck O'Mara was the one man now on whom he was depending to bring him into contact with the Mask. How, or where, he did not know; but at any cost, or through any means he could devise, he must cultivate Buck O'Mara.

A wharf showed up out of the darkness; a house, still more shadowy, loomed up beyond. And then a light appeared suddenly in one of the windows of the house—and went out again.

Buck O'Mara came out of the wheelhouse as the boat drew up to the wharf.

"You go back in the same car you came in with me, Clarkie," he said. "I'll drop you somewhere in the city. Stick around."

"Thanks," said Clarkie gratefully.

The mob debarked and Buck O'Mara dismissed them at the shore end of the wharf.

"Wait here for me, Clarkie," he instructed. "I've got to go up to the house for a minute."

In the blackness Colin could see little—only the vague outlines of the wharf and house. He heard several cars depart. He heard th motor cruiser start away again—to assist th other two boats presumably in emptying the Alouette's hold. Perhaps 10 minutes passed, then Buck O'Mara came toward him through the shadows. Buck O'Mara was grumbling and cursing audibly to himself.

"Anything wrong, Buck?" Colin inquired solicitously.

"Yes," growled Buck O'Mara. "You heard Benny and me talking about Spinelli, didn't you? Well, he's in a jam all right. He's got to have some kale tonight for his fixer. It's Heimie's racket, but nobody's been able to connect with him, so I guess I'll have to take it on—and it looks like you weren't through with your job yet tonight either."

"That's all right by me," declared Colin cheerfully.

To Be Continued.

Given in Marriage

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge, safe in her father's arms and thankful for his timely intervention in her trying interview with Lee Chow, reviews the fatherless years of her childhood.

AS I uttered my tremulous thankful query to my father after Lee Chow had exit from the room, he smiled down at me with infinite tenderness.

"I think sometimes I am psychic concerning any need of yours for me," he said. "Perhaps it is because for so many years I wandered a pariah, seeking you, that you became the one obsessing thought of my life."

His rich, organ-like voice broke ever so slightly, and I put my arms about his neck and my face close to his.

"I know, dearest and best of fathers," I murmured, and for several seconds we stood locked in that close embrace, while my memory gave me lightning-like glimpses of that time of which he was speaking.

Deserted Her Mother

I never had any childish memories of my father. When I was four years old, he had deserted my mother and me and gone away with my mother's best friend. I had been raised to implacable resentment against him, but my mother on her deathbed had charged me to love and forgive him, if he ever came into my life and needed me. Something in that solemn injunction had made me realize that my mother was remorsefully admitting to me—and to her own soul—that she had been partly at fault for the cataclysm which had destroyed her life.

That the other woman had been but an episode in my father's life, and that my mother had been for him the "one woman," ever after denied him, I knew. He had asked for a reconciliation not long after his deseration of her, but had met with a stern denial, and an edict forbidding him ever to come near either her or me.

Then he had disappeared from our lives until after my marriage, when his long search for me—which had given him the sobriquet of "The Quester of Broadway"—had ended in his recognition of my likeness to my mother.

How vivid was the memory of the night when first I had seen him, in a Broadway restaurant, and Dicky had told me that the striking-looking man at a table near us was called "The Quester," because he always appeared to be watching for someone. Later he revealed himself as my father, after a misunderstanding on his account that almost precipitated Dicky and me into a marital tragedy.

Precious Memories

Just as vivid, but more tender, were the other members that came crowding upon me. Never, despite the long years which had separated me from him, had I experienced any difficulty in obeying my little mother's dying injunction to love him and to forgive him. And never, I believe, did any daughter receive more love and care than had been my portion from the moment he revealed himself to me.

I have been able to make his later years as happy as his remorseful memories of my mother will permit, and my children are completing the task of healing his sorrow. He adores Junior, but I know that Baby Faith, given at his request a name of my mother's which he alone used, and bearing a startling resemblance to me and to my mother, is the most precious thing on earth to him.

I guessed that memories were swaying my father, too—memories that went back farther than mine. I knew it when he tightened his clasp of me, and said wistfully:

"Have I been a good father to you, my darling? God knows I have meant to be, but a man cannot understand, sometimes—"

I took an arm from around his neck and laid my hand firmly across his lips.

"You always have had the most divine understanding," I whispered. "Please do not underrate yourself. I never, never can tell you what you have been to me."

He bent and kissed me fondly.

"You do not need to tell me anything," he said. "You have shown your love for me every moment of our life together. You and your children have healed wounds that I did not think could be healed. And I want you always to remember that all my life is at your service.

"Now, let me answer the question you asked me just now. I knew you needed me, because I had been watching you, or rather watching Lee Chow, through that balcony window outside."

He pointed to an odd little window several feet from the ground, high up in the wall.

"Father!" I gasped. "How ever did you get up there?"

"I was an athlete, once, my dear," he said, "and I had a strong incentive for the climb. I knew that I must watch Lee Chow, and find out what he was trying to do."

I swayed against him at a sudden memory.

"His eyes!" I whispered fearfully. "Did you see his eyes?"

COLUMBUS SCENE OF "JENNIE GERHARDT" TO SHOW AT PALACE

Columbus, O., is the setting for the opening scenes of "Jennie Gerhardt," the picturization of Theodore Dreiser's novel which will be shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Palace. The hotel at which Jennie secures jobs for her mother and herself, is presumably the old Neil House.

SYLVIA SIDNEY

Donald Cook is Miss Sidney's leading man. Mary Astor, Edward Arnold, H. B. Warner, Louise Carter and little Cora Sue Collins are well known members of the cast.

Shortly after finishing this picture, it was found necessary for her to undergo a throat operation and production on her latest picture in which she co-stars with Maurice Chevalier was stopped until she recovers.

"PILGRIMAGE" COMING TO OHIO.

The story of a mother who sent her son to war and his death rather than lose him to the girl he loved, is told in "Pilgrimage," which will be shown at the Ohio four days, starting Sunday.

NORMAN FOSTER

Henrietta Crosman who was the fiery, lovable grandmother in the Broadway stage production of "The Royal Family of Broadway," carries the role of the mother, who is at last awakened to the full realization of the wrong she did her son and his sweetheart, Norman Foster is the son and Marian Nixon is the sweetheart.

Heather Angel, English star, Charles Grapewin, Betty Blythe who brought the Queen of Sheba to the silent films, Lucille LaVerne, Louise Carter and Hedda Hopper head the capable supporting cast. The picture was made from a novel written by Mrs. I. A. R. Wylie.

TRACY, LUGOSI IN STATE SHOWS.

"Private Jones," one of the best pictures Lee Tracy has made, and "White Zombie," a thriller featuring Bela Lugosi are on the double Sunday and Monday bill at the State. "Private Jones" abounds in the songs and slang of the A. E. F., and what a role Tracy makes of the American doughboy's reactions to the great war. Donald Cook and Gloria Stuart have important roles.

JOHN GILBERT IN MARION PICTURE.

John Gilbert is starred in "Fast Workers," the picture which will be shown three days at the Marion, starting Sunday. Supporting the star are Robert Armstrong, Mae Clarke, Muriel Kirkland and Vince Barnett. The story concerns the hilarious adventures of a couple of riveters, Gilbert and Armstrong. The story is based on the play, "Rivets," by John McDermott.

HULL WILL REOPEN INSTITUTE SEPT. 16

The Institute of Public Affairs, a feature of the Columbia network, will return to the air Saturday, Sept. 16, at 9 p. m. after a summer's recess, with Secretary of State Cordell Hull as the first speaker. He will speak on "Domestic Recovery and International Cooperation." The programs last half an hour.

World's Fair Trip Just a Jaunt for Wharton Woman

"I've had a wonderful time and I'd like to go back." These were the sentiments of Mrs Dora Kimmel, 76, of Wharton as she bade adieu to members of her party here after an early morning return from a trip to the World's fair in Chicago. The nonagenarian stood the trip as well and better than some of the others in the party did by way of proving that she still could "carry on," hopped in a car and with her grandson, Ohlen Lovelace drove to her home at Wharton without stopping for a few winks of sleep in Marion.

Mrs Kimmel, who is the mother of C. D. Kimmel of Davids street, was one of a party of 22 which left Marion in a truck converted into an improvised bus for the World's fair about 11:30 Saturday night, arriving in Chicago at about 11:30 Sunday morning. The party returned here Tuesday morning.

It was Mrs Kimmel's first visit to Chicago and she didn't miss anything from the shows on the fair midway to the sights of Chicago which she viewed with interest from the top deck of a sight seeing bus.

Members of the party were Mr and Mrs Dale Kimmel and their children Maxine and Robert, Mrs Dora Kimmel and her grandson, Ohlen Lovelace of Wharton, Mr and Mrs Thomas Search and son Bob, Mr and Mrs Fred Lehner, Miss Catherine Welch, Edward Jones, Jimmie Leedom, Paul Rosette, Gerald Ware, Bud Ferguson, Ed Cramer, Robert Cramer, Paul Bixler, Jewell Buck and P. Warren.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, Sept. 10

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE is a fortunate one for church, charity and for the advancement of cherished ambitions, with the mystical and spiritual qualities under high stimulus and possibly spurring to change or adventure in unusual or unconventional avocations. It is an auspicious time for approaching superiors for favors.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a fortunate year, with a decided move in the direction of fulfilled ambitions. It is a fortunate time for seeking honors, preferment or the subetantial support of those in power and authority. Speculation would be safe under these aspects for increase and gain. Change is near.

A child born on this day may be efficient, adventurous, ambitious and may have peculiar talents qualifying for success in high places.

Notable nativity: General Joe Wheeler, U. S. army.

For Monday, Sept. 11

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL forecast is for a rather conflicting state of affairs. Although there may be a definite breaking away from old stagnant and crystallized conditions, with tenaciously impeding circumstancee, yet it may be difficult to make much headway until further adjustments are under way. An element of duplicity, fraud, or secrecy tends to retard matters, but with sagacity and wariness all may be turned in profitable direction.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of many conflicting situations and conditions. Although there may be a definite breaking away of old obstacles and stagnations, yet there are also menacing signs of fraud.

A child born on this day may be persevering, hard working and studious but prone to complication, sickness and sadness.

Notable nativity: [illegible] ...grand John Barrett, [illegible] ...this month.

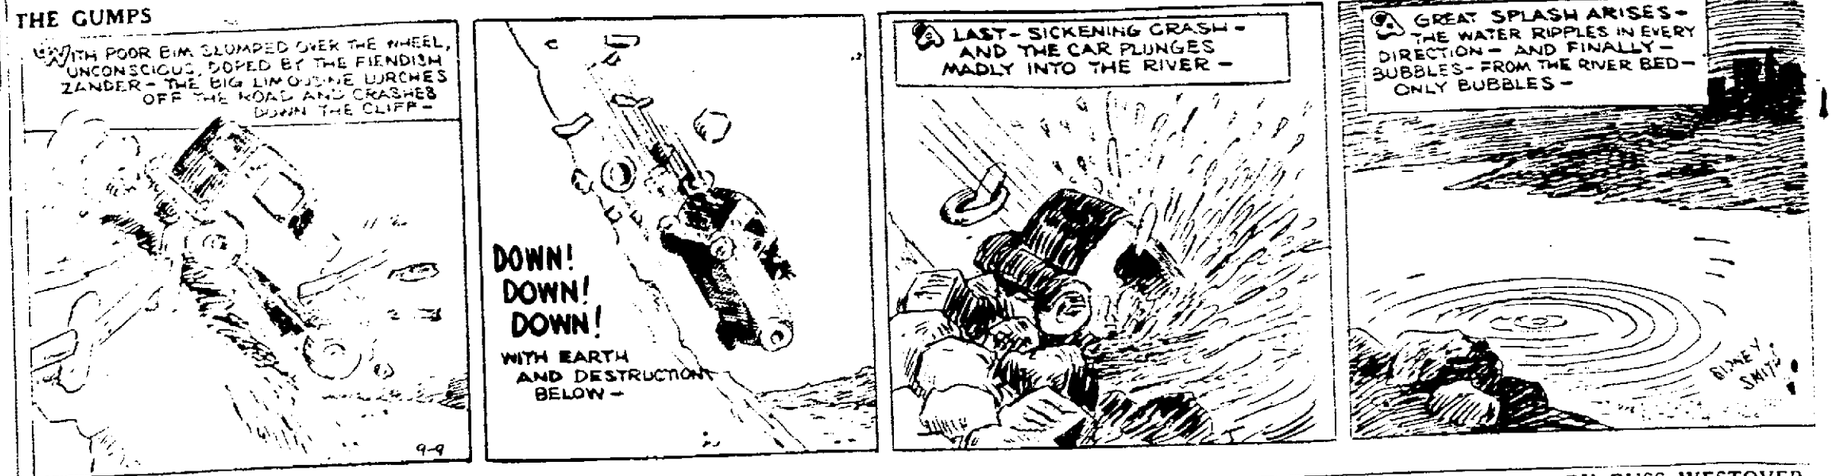
DEAR MR. KABIBBLE:
DO NURSES MAKE GOOD WIVES?

YES - THEY TEACH HIM HOW TO TAKE HIS MEDICINE! 9-9

THE GUMPS — BY SIDNEY SMITH



WITH POOR BIM SLUMPED OVER THE WHEEL, UNCONSCIOUS, DOPED BY THE FIENDISH ZANDER - THE BIG LIMOUSINE LURCHES OFF THE ROAD AND CRASHES DOWN THE CLIFF - DOWN! DOWN! DOWN!
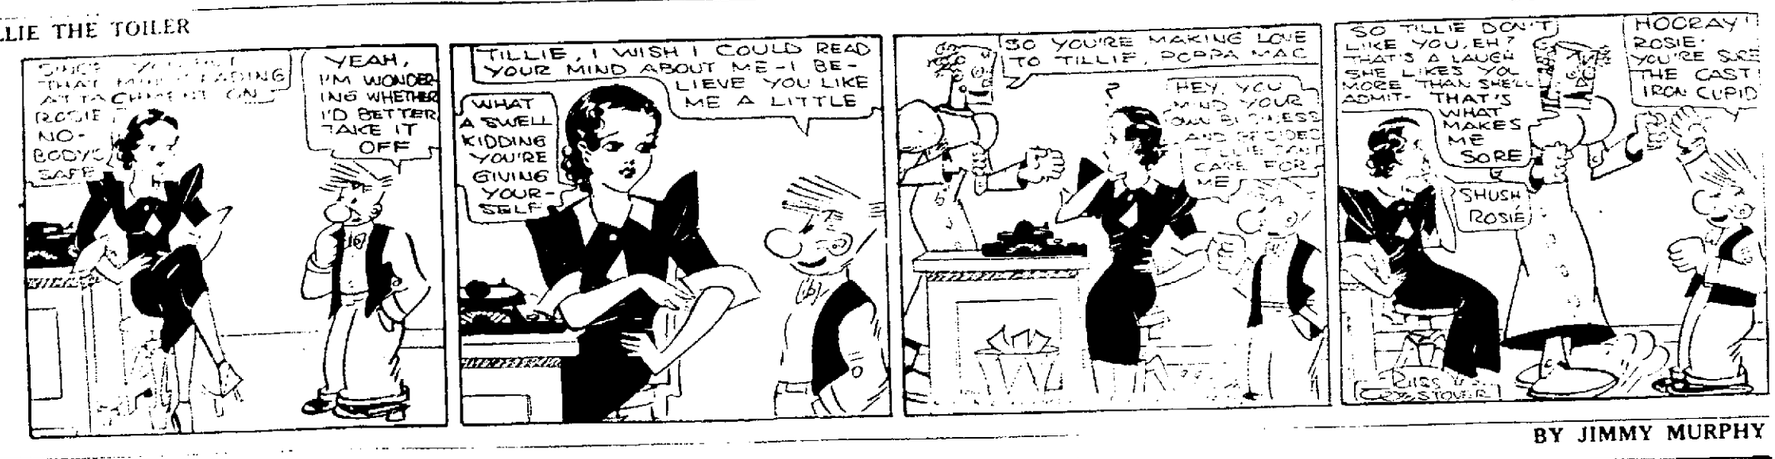
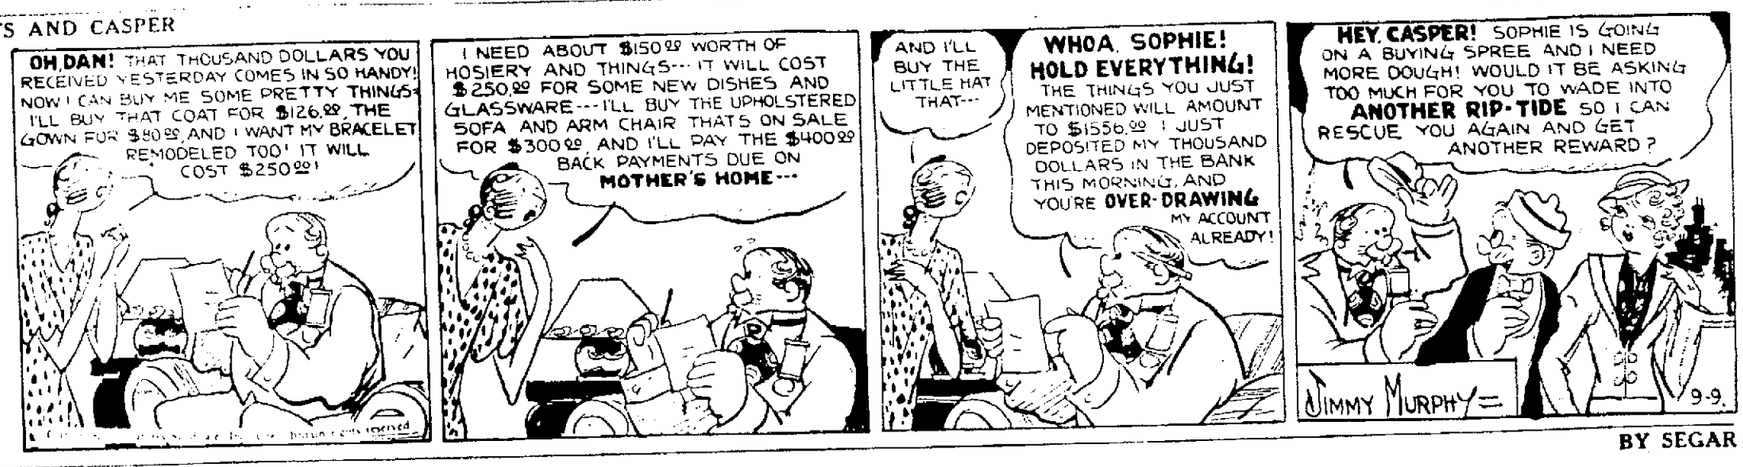
WITH EARTH AND DESTRUCTION BELOW -
LAST - SICKENING CRASH - AND THE CAR PLUNGES MADLY INTO THE RIVER -
GREAT SPLASH ARISES - THE WATER RIPPLES IN EVERY DIRECTION - AND FINALLY - BUBBLES - FROM THE RIVER BED - ONLY BUBBLES -
SIDNEY SMITH

TILLIE THE TOILER — BY RUSS WESTOVER



SINCE YOU'VE BEEN FADING ATTACHMENTS ON ROSIE NOBODY'S SAFE
YEAH, I'M WONDERING WHETHER I'D BETTER TAKE IT OFF
TILLIE, I WISH I COULD READ YOUR MIND ABOUT ME - I BELIEVE YOU LIKE ME A LITTLE
WHAT A SWELL KIDDING YOU'RE GIVING YOURSELF
SO YOU'RE MAKING LOVE TO TILLIE, POPPA MAC
HEY, YOU MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS AND I'LL DO THE SAME FOR ME
SO TILLIE DON'T LIKE YOU, EH? THAT'S A LAUGH SHE LIKES YOU MORE THAN SHE'LL ADMIT - THAT'S WHAT MAKES ME SORE
HOORAY! ROSIE, YOU'RE SUE THE CAST IRON CUPID
SHUSH ROSIE
RUSS WESTOVER

TOOTS AND CASPER — BY JIMMY MURPHY



OH, DAN! THAT THOUSAND DOLLARS YOU RECEIVED YESTERDAY COMES IN SO HANDY! NOW I CAN BUY ME SOME PRETTY THINGS - I'LL BUY THAT COAT FOR $126.00, THE GOWN FOR $80.00, AND I WANT MY BRACELET REMODELED TOO! IT WILL COST $250.00!
I NEED ABOUT $150.00 WORTH OF HOSIERY AND THINGS--- IT WILL COST $250.00 FOR SOME NEW DISHES AND GLASSWARE---I'LL BUY THE UPHOLSTERED SOFA AND ARM CHAIR THAT'S ON SALE FOR $300.00, AND I'LL PAY THE $400.00 BACK PAYMENTS DUE ON MOTHER'S HOME---
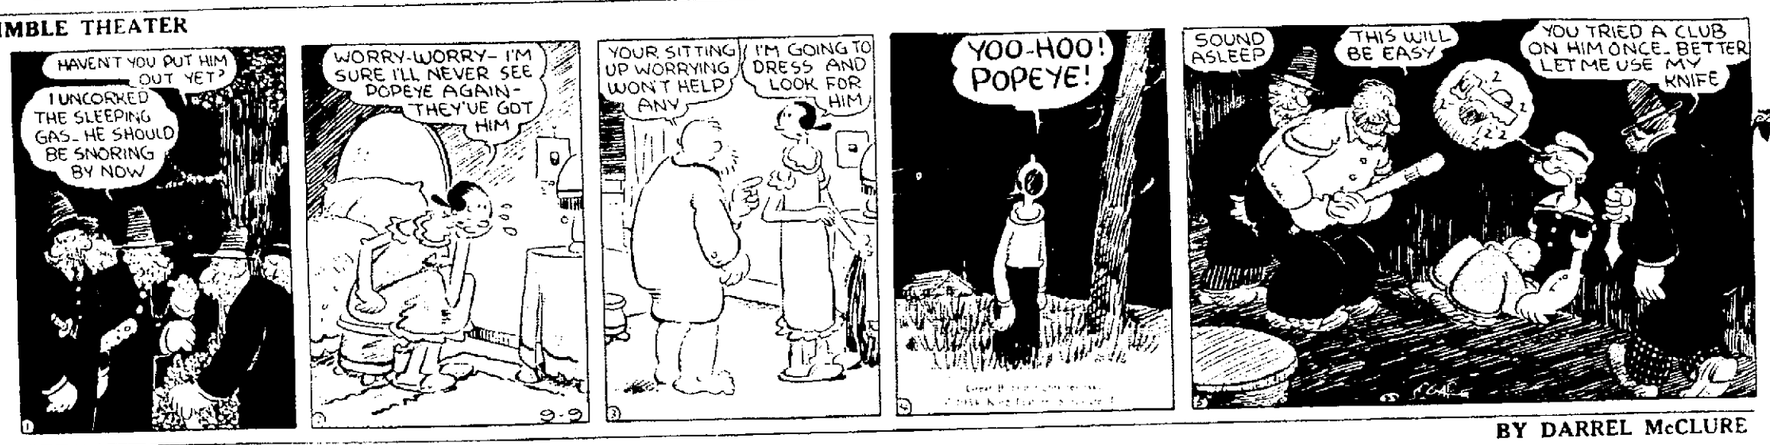
AND I'LL BUY THE LITTLE HAT THAT--- WHOA, SOPHIE! HOLD EVERYTHING! THE THINGS YOU JUST MENTIONED WILL AMOUNT TO $1556.00! I JUST DEPOSITED MY THOUSAND DOLLARS IN THE BANK THIS MORNING, AND YOU'RE OVER-DRAWING MY ACCOUNT ALREADY!
HEY, CASPER! SOPHIE IS GOING ON A BUYING SPREE AND I NEED MORE DOUGH! WOULD IT BE ASKING TOO MUCH FOR YOU TO WADE INTO ANOTHER RIP-TIDE SO I CAN RESCUE YOU AGAIN AND GET ANOTHER REWARD?
JIMMY MURPHY 9-9

THIMBLE THEATER — BY SEGAR

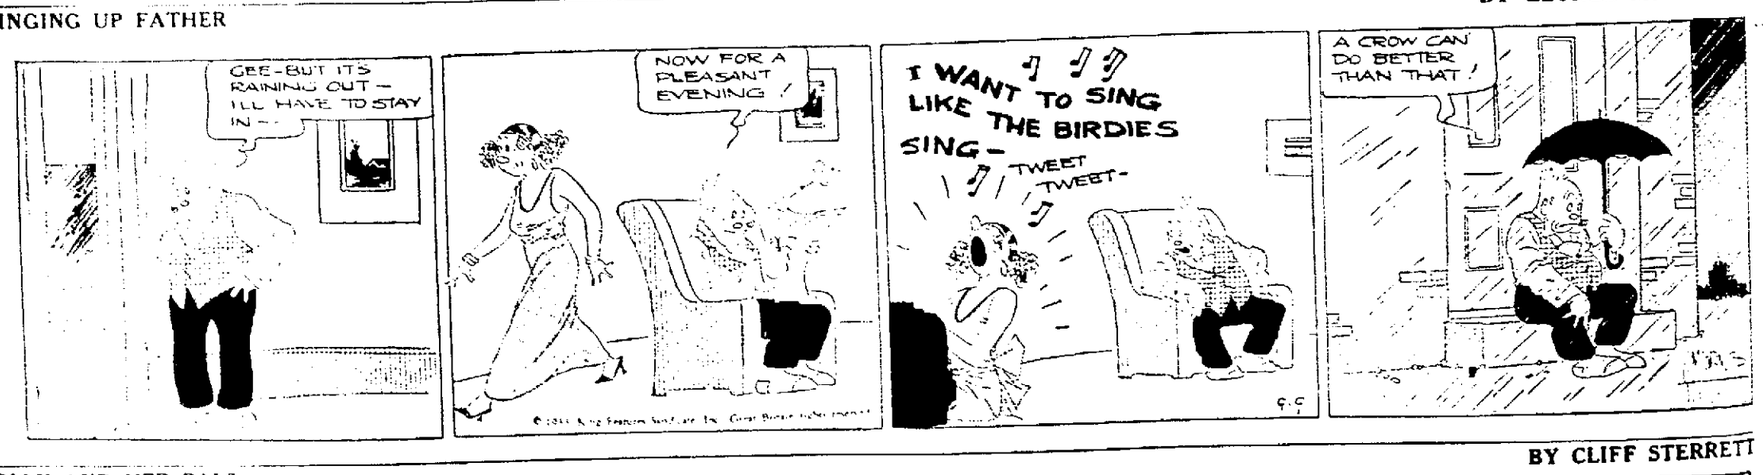


HAVEN'T YOU PUT HIM OUT YET?
I UNCORKED THE SLEEPING GAS - HE SHOULD BE SNORING BY NOW
WORRY-WORRY - I'M SURE I'LL NEVER SEE POPEYE AGAIN - THEY'VE GOT HIM
YOUR SITTING UP WORRYING WON'T HELP ANY
I'M GOING TO DRESS AND LOOK FOR HIM
YOO-HOO! POPEYE!
SOUND ASLEEP
THIS WILL BE EASY
YOU TRIED A CLUB ON HIM ONCE - BETTER LET ME USE MY KNIFE

ANNIE ROONEY — BY DARREL McCLURE

YOU FOOLISH LITTLE DEAR - THIS MONEY BOX IS SAFE - SO DON'T WORRY YOUR DARLING LITTLE HEAD ABOUT IT - IF I WASN'T CERTAIN THE BOX WAS SAFE, I WOULDN'T TRUST THIS WATCH IN IT - THIS WATCH BELONGED TO MY FATHER
I GUESS I'M JUST A SCAREDY-CAT - BUT HONEST, I DID SEE SOME ONE PEEKIN' IN THE WINDOW THAT NIGHT - I KEEP SAYIN' TO MYSELF 'DON'T WORRY' - BUT I JUST CAN'T STOP WORRYIN' - HONEST, I CAN'T
THEN THERE'S ONLY ONE WAY TO STOP YOU FROM WORRYING - MONDAY I'LL PUT THE MONEY IN THE BANK - AND THE WATCH IN A SAFE DEPOSIT VAULT
GLORYOSKY - NOW I'M GLAD ALL OVER - 'CAUSE I WON'T BE WORRYIN' - AN' YOU WON'T BE WORRYIN' - 'CAUSE WE WON'T HAVE ANYTHING THE ROBBERS KIN STEAL!!

BRINGING UP FATHER — BY GEORGE McMANUS



GEE - BUT IT'S RAINING OUT - I'LL HAVE TO STAY IN -
NOW FOR A PLEASANT EVENING
I WANT TO SING LIKE THE BIRDIES SING - TWEET TWEET - A CROW CAN DO BETTER THAN THAT!

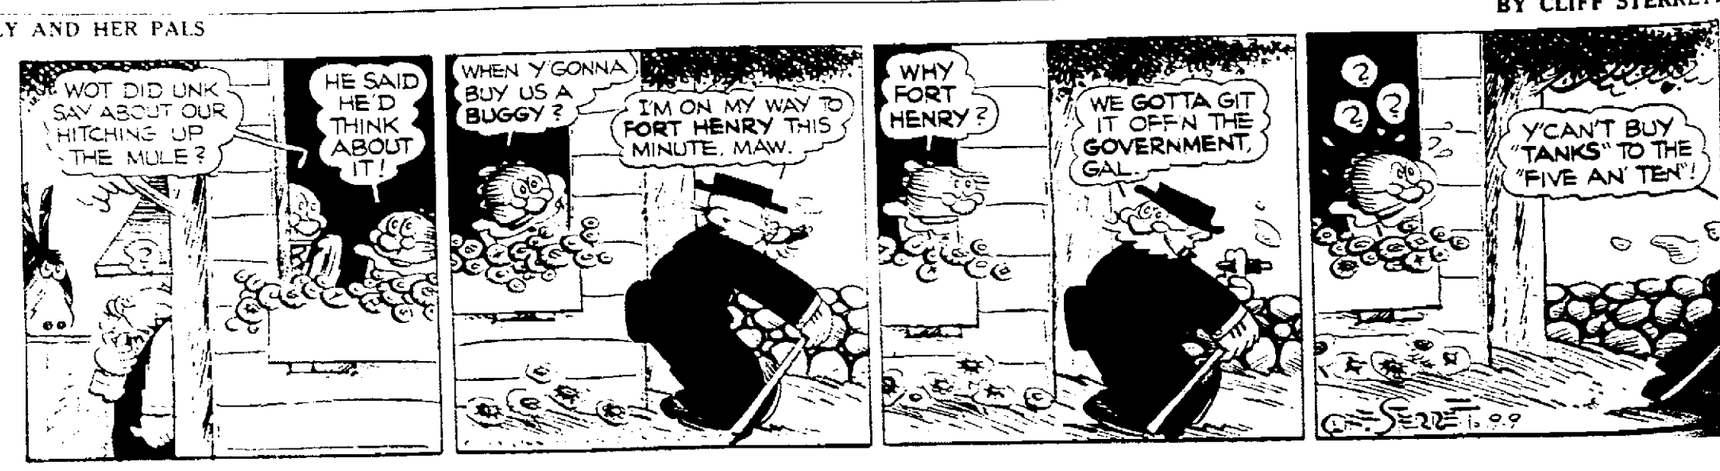
POLLY AND HER PALS — BY CLIFF STERRETT



WOT DID UNK SAY ABOUT OUR HITCHING UP THE MULE?
HE SAID HE'D THINK ABOUT IT!
WHEN Y'GONNA BUY US A BUGGY?
I'M ON MY WAY TO FORT HENRY THIS MINUTE, MAW.
WHY FORT HENRY?
WE GOTTA GIT IT OFF'N THE GOVERNMENT, GAL.
Y'CAN'T BUY "TANKS" TO THE "FIVE AN' TEN"!

WHITENED SEPULCHERS can be compared to many ones today.

AUTO intoxication (self-poisoning) one of the most horrible forms of INWARD REEKING uncleanliness—human filth EFLUVIA becomes absorbed — then eyes become misty (don't see good) hearing is dulled — limbs begin to stiffen, gait unsteady. You can begin to count only a few years of life ahead—shortened by PARALYSIS, APOPLEXY, heart or kidney failure. There is hope in HEPATIC TRITICUM (Lower's). People come hundreds of miles to purchase this remedy. Sold only by Lower's Pharmacy, Center and Leader.

TRADING DULL ON BIG BOARD

Shares Move Listlessly as Saturday Sessions are Resumed.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 Resumption of Saturday trading in the securities markets today failed to arouse even a faint glimmer of enthusiasm and stock transactions dropped to the lowest level of the year to date. Professionals passed a few equities back and forth on the exchange floor, but price fluctuations were unimportant and the close was fairly steady. Transfers approximated 270,000 shares.

Board rooms were almost deserted by customers. Brokers and their assistants generally sat around and talked about week-end fishing or golf. Little attention was paid to the ticking ticker tape, which at frequent intervals was silent for a minute or so. Grains and cotton furnished no stimulus to stocks as these staples presented a rather heavy appearance most of the morning.

Small gains were recorded by shares of Loew's National Distillers, General Motors, American Commercial Alcohol, Chrysler, New York Central, Commercial Solvents, Owens Illinois, American Telephone, Illinois Central and Case. Homestake mining dropped 2½ points and fractional declines were suffered by Allied Chemical, Alaska Juneau, United Aircraft, Goodrich, Du Pont, Consolidated Gas, Sears Roebuck and American Tobacco B. Many issues were unchanged.

The satisfactory gain of some 51,000 in freight car loadings for the week ended Sept. 2, was virtually ignored by the carrier stocks. The contra-seasonal increase was attributed largely to an advance in coal shipments and was about according to expectations.

GRAINS CLOSE WEEK LOWER

Dearth of Speculative Buying Results in General Slump.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 — Dearth of new speculative buying, together with rains in Argentina, practically the first in six months, led to decidedly lower price for all cereals today.

Moderate temporary support for wheat developed after a fall of two cents a bushel, but rallies lacked vigor. Paris reports that a European war would certainly take place if Austria became a part of Germany, were of no effect as a market influence.

Wheat closed shaky at the day's bottom level, 1¾@2⅜ under yesterday's finish, corn 1¾@1⅞ down, oats ⅜@⅝ off, and provisions varying from 20 cents decline to a rise of 5 cents.

SEA SCOUTING UNIT FORMED

Troop 2 Becomes First in Harding Area To Start New Activity.

The first sea scout unit in the Harding Area council was established last night when Marion Camp No. 32, United Spanish American War Veterans, named a committee to set up the unit in Boy Scout Troop No 2, which is sponsored by the camp

Thus, Troop 2 gets a double distinction—it was the first troop to be organized in Marion and becomes the first in the council to adopt sea scouting The troop was organized in 1912 under Chas McWilliam as scoutmaster

Executive Speaks

Arthur S Brooks, area executive, spoke at the meeting of the sea scout program and stressed that its objectives are the same as land scouting the development of character and citizenship The program differs only as said in the type of activities requirements and uniforms

Activities of the unit will deal chiefly with swimming seamanship, sea lore and tradition, charts and compass work Most of the program will be done ashore though occasional river and lake trips are scheduled Ralph Ein
